Your update settings are either not set or wrong. You should check if the list of files appears in the Update tab otherwise your URL is probably wrong.

- 1) Disable AV/Firewall
- 2) run as admin
- 3) move thread to rat section.

PM the creators of the rat with the issue after trying these because it could also be that the settings in their liscence panel arent able to be read properly

Nooo, I don't provide support to end-users. If you're having trouble with an application you need to contact the owner, if they can't figure it out for you then they can contact me for guidance.

Nothing AeonHack can do. You're failing to download files from the updater URL.
