I've never seen anyone do this before, so I'm going to be the first:

The first five upgraded members, regardless of whether you have L33t, 3p1c, or Ub3r, will have the choice of what charity I will donate money to. I will donate $5 to each charity selected by members here.

Stipulations:

The charity must accept online donations.

The charity must be a legally registered non-profit in the United States.

The charity cannot support discriminatory causes.

I reserve the right to deny to donate to a charity which I do not support the cause of.

I must say this is a VERY generous giveaway. Thanks for supporting all of them, you the real MVP.

Happy birthday to Magicmann's stepdaddy

Donations have been sent to all the charities. Red Cross is a bit greedy and has a minimum ten dollar donation, so I went ahead and did it.

Hava Heart \(Click to View\)

Susan G. Komen for the Cure \(Click to View\)

Keep your eyes open. I'll be doing these more in the future.

Also, my stepdad told me to tell you all thanks for the birthday wishes.

Ehh fuck it. The amount of cares I have are so little they're negligible. You can already see my name with one click from any post I've ever made through my Keybase profile. I'm already the easiest dox on HF and have pissed many people off. If something bad was going to happen, I would imagine it already would have. Asides, I'm in the Military. We've got some of the best legal assistance provided to us free of charge anyways. If someone tries to fuck with me, I'll just push back many times harder, and through legal means as well.

Plus, what kind of asshole would be like, "Hey look! This guys name is available from him donating to charity. I'm going to fuck with him for the shiggles."

custer - June 30, 2015, 11:12 pm

I just thought you wanted it anonymous from the name's on the other donations being marked out.

Well, I did that just 'cause. But then stopped caring after I got most of them done and didn't fix any mistakes.
