Chinx - July 1, 2015, 10:24 am

SIM-2763166 - July 1, 2015, 10:37 am

Since I'm a graphics designer, I have to use PM function a lot. 3P1C increases your PM storage a lot, which would be really helpful and make things easier for me and my work. We all know that it feels bad when deleting old PM's :-(

I'd appreciate the upgrade a lot.

Thank you! :-)

Rat_Installs - July 1, 2015, 10:47 am i would like this because it gives you a lot of cool features! thanks for hosting this nondescriptoldie - July 1, 2015, 11:53 am

Why did you join hackforums?:

I joined Hackforums to expand on my knowledge and my awareness in different types of methods on Doxing and E-Whoring. Although coming to grips with Hackforums for a while now I have understood these "aims" and wishes I wanted to achieve and soulfully done them. I was aware of hackforums on a number of different occasions such as one 2 years back when I searched on Google for a Rat tutorial and I found a link coming to Hackfourms although I never really did register until the 06-11-2014. Which was saddening as I could have been here for over two years now! ?

So that is why I joined this forum! I initially thought it was just for hacking although from my time being here I realised it is something much much more than that! I realised it has a good community that is very helpful and has many different sectors such as the market place and the lounge!

What do you want to achieve here?:

In Hackforums I want to achieve various different aspects that accompany the art of hacking in general terms. Although as stated before I had been up to grips with learning about on how Rats work and on the physics behind "E-Whoring" and "Doxing". Although now I know what they are and I am working on something big. I want to improve on my coding. Now being a decent E-Whorer and also a good Doxer I want to improve something that I am very weak and fragile at which is Coding. I have never been a fan of coding since I really never known how it has worked, well that is until December 2014 where I realised and studied for a long time on Java and C++. I am now fairly OK in the art of coding now but I certainly want to improve! I also want to help out the Sony Gaming community a little by posting some of my Modded content and threads to users alike! Some have been posted below! ?

What is your favourite interest?:

My favourite interests in "normal" life or interpreted sometimes as real life is chess and tennis. I have always liked Tennis since I was small and always loved watching the matches in person. I miss those days although right now I do play for a top tennis club in the United Kingdom which is good as I love playing the game. I also like Chess because in a way it boosts my confidence just before I am about to do something important. It is very hard to explain but it calms me down and "chills" me! ?

In the computing side of things my interest is cracking and defacing. Something that I am a intermediate expert at is probably only is these two things. I am a skilled cracker and can crack practically anything you can throw at me and I love the art of SQL injections and also the defacement! In video games I love playing on my PlayStation 3 and 4. I love TPS's, FPS's and also football games such as Fifa. I play these in my spare time and or when I feel like playing! ?

I also like meddling around with my old android devices! I love on how they work and what they do to function. I have rooted my phone (Due to help with one of the members here) and I have also solved many problems regards to Hackforums which I am grateful for as now I can customize my Android to what I like and I also can change the settings to what I prefer!
