Thread: [Rate My Thread Design Made in Paint? \[PART 2 NEW DESIGN\]](#)

Yous - July 3, 2015, 1:13 pm

I am making all new designs for all of my threads. This one is for a product I have not launched yet. I took the advice from my last thread and tried to apply those tips into this design.

Decided to post here before launching my product so I can use your tips to tweak it before the product launch.

Let me know what you guys think:

Personally I don't like the idea of it being made in Paint.

You have no control over text or alignment.

For the thread, your font changes too much.
Because it's made in Paint, the quality is bad too.

Colour was okay until you got to the last part, the green, white, blue, yellow and black don't go together at all and is kind of an eyesore.

Yeah I might start over I feel it is not consistent and it does not blend well.

The only thing I am really keen on keeping is the header.

Yea just gonna put it out there, paint is probably not the best software to use.. Try something like Gimp, it's free.

You made this in Paint?

Holy shit it's good.

Try Photoshop, maybe you'll get even more amazing

To be made in Paint, god damn 7/10 just cause you legit af lmao

TheSwagMaster - July 3, 2015, 5:21 pm

How the fuck did you do that in paint? That looks amazing!

I do have Photoshop for those wondering. I just have no idea how to use it and don't currently have the time to learn it. I appreciate all the feedback so far. But i'm also looking for tips to make it much better.

The top bit, where it's the blue square with the writing should be cleaned up. I don't know what, but it seems to not be fitting with the light design that you go for in the cover picture.

Also, use icons from findicons.com or flaticons.com to have the same icon style throughout because they look inconsistent
