Thread: [\[Request\] Group Userbar - Royalty - \$150](#)

Cibor - July 4, 2015, 11:08 am

Royalty will be a group of Sellers/Exchangers, focused on marketplace.

We need:

- userbar 136x42
- forum icon 40x40

The design should be elegant and classy.

No more suggestions yet, let's see what you can come up with ?

Im willing to pay $150.

Vohrex - July 4, 2015, 11:11 am

(Background has a US dollar feel since the group is money related)

Will finish the icon and edit the post.

You were quite quick on there deciding the groups name.

Hopefully you will get a decent UB for that price. GL.

I dislike big obnoxious userbars such as the examples, however I'm interested to see what he could do with HF's current art direction.

Mainly because its not in the HF resolution

But since its his work, he would be able to do it in the specified resolution and image requirements. Anyways, no luck on finding his HF, I PMed Cibor a way to contact him though

The fact you didn't make it yourself looks more like ripping to me whether or not you "adapted" the style, tbh. I don't think reflects good designer work ethics tbh.

How old are you? The concept of adapting is to adjust or "make better of". At no point did I claim any section of any design. Nor did I state that I am entering the "contest". If you want to bring in ethics, you can explain how ethics works in a situation such as this.

Then what was the point in posting the design if you have no intention of entering in the contest? That would just to be gaining your post count. There would be no point in you posting it in a smaller size if the image itself is on Google and has already been posted/linked to it's original source. I won't make a mess of the thread so I'll leave my last post on this subject here.

1. The colors are fairly similar.
2. There's an image in the center being surrounded by other things on the sides.

Precisely.

Not so much on the fact it's in the center, more so that it glows with similar colors that probably brings out the resemblance. Despite the coloring, the style is quite different in my point of view. But that would be an issue if it was chosen I assume.

Change it up a little bit.
I love your designs, and I honestly like the UB, it just needs to stand out more.

Not really sure what to add to be quite honest. I'm afraid I'm a bit out of ideas, but perhaps just need some inspiration so I guess I can mess with it a bit.

I just wish the OP would let me know if he likes the design himself or not though, it would be quite helpful ?

The most I like clean and bright designs, bright colours preferably not typical gold.

I'm not certain about Cibor's opinion, but this is mine, for all the people making complicated ass userbars, this thing is 132x42, not some huge ass painting. It's a small space, filling it up with so many decorations, etc is an eye sore to me and I believe a few others have the same opinion, a small simple one just like the one made by designer:

looks fantastic. btw i'm not affiliated with Designer at all lol. I just feel the small simple ones look better, gl finding the right one Cibor.

IMGUR compresses for images greater than 5 MB.

They have lossless compression throughout but that doesn't affect image quality.
