I can vouch for this user; I actually invited him on Hack Forums from meeting him on another private forum. If you want to make money then you should join this group.

Vouch for OP. I can say that he is a skilled person himself, and that he knows what he is going. GG bud, will join this soon.

I'm not affiliated with this group but OP it's Carpe Noctem, not Carpe Noctum lol.

Thank you, for some reason my translator was saying Noctum, maybe it changes on the way it's used?

Not related to joining, but I see official groups with userbars and privileges and shit. What's the point in joining these unofficial ones? Can you socialise with one and other and trade skillsets? Can someone explain?

I'm not being disrespectful I'm just being questionable.

If the only reason you join a group is for a userbar and forum privileges then you are missing out on the whole point of a group.

ummm bro... your being questionable? you mean curious? and more like ignorant since you shouldn't join a group for aesthetic purposes... the "groups" on here are just "HF groups" like any other club or shit
