

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to use github with Visual Studio 2013

BahNahNah - July 8, 2015, 6:03 pm

[First upload to Github]

1) Sign up to github.

2) Navigate to 'New Repository'

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Enter a repository name, description is optional.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Click "Create repository"

3) On the next screen, copy the HTTPS git link.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

4) Open the project you want to assign to the repo.

5) Goto file -> Add to source control

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

There should be green "+" in your Solution Explorer now.

6) Goto the Team Explorer tab

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

It should look like this. If it dosent, click the house.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

7) This step needs to be done once (not for every project):

- Goto Settings

- Git settings

Enter a username and your email then click Update.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

8) return back to the team explorer home (house icon) and then select "Changes"

9) Enter a commit message

10) Click the tab BESIDE the commit button and select "Commit and push"

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

11) Paste the HTTPS git link (from step 2) into the box then click Publish.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

if you get a prompt asking you to login, use your github login details.

12) You are done, refresh your github page and you should see your code.

[Updating your Github]

(All changed files will have a red tick beside them)

1 a) To update your entire project, right-click on the project name -> Source Control -> Commit

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

1 b) To update specific files, select the files you want to update, Right click -> Commit

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

2) Click the tab BESIDE the commit button and select "Commit and push"

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

3) Done, you updated your git

backshifted - July 8, 2015, 6:05 pm

It's quite simple but still a very nice and detailed share (:
Too bad i already repped you ;D

SIM-1676753 - July 8, 2015, 6:07 pm

Yes, hi sir. I am still having issues? Can you make a video please? Thank you.

+Haze - July 8, 2015, 6:48 pm

GitHerb Desktop version looks easier in my opinion. Just saying... Nice effort though Mr.BahNahNah

Only3 - July 8, 2015, 6:59 pm

long story > code and upload < short
Edit - Update ? delete and upload or edit

tweety - July 8, 2015, 8:16 pm

Or you know.. <https://msdn.microsoft.com/en-us/library/hh850445.aspx>

NETExplorer - July 8, 2015, 9:10 pm

Good idea of a thread, 9.5/10 for effort

-2/10 for execution

SIM-1676753 - July 8, 2015, 9:13 pm

OP is refusing to help me. This product is a scam and you should not buy it.