Thread: So.. I've finally made it to the blue side.

glitchgxd - July 8, 2015, 11:03 pm

After a good off/on 6 years of being a member of this wonderful forum I finally decided to place an application. I'm not sure why I didn't submit a request sooner, but oh well.

Are there any member forums anymore? I thought there used to be an ub3r discussion board or something.

Either way, glad to be blue!

6 years with 40+ rep. This is credible tbh. Providing that you were active a lot & made threads. If you flew under the radar, I just applaud you

I've had a few periods of activity. I can't say I'm nearly as active as other members who upgraded, but I've learned quite a bit from just lurking these forums and whatnot. I also had a blast rapping with other members a few years back.

I'm more able to stay active with my current job / lifestyle now, so it's nice to be upgraded while doing it. Just makes the forum experience more entertaining.

Plus, I really like the username color.

Thanks man, I already am. The color is so much better. That green was getting old.
