Thread: Police 911 Dispatch Service CCPD protocols

VanilliaCoke - July 12, 2015, 7:41 am

So i was on shondan and i recently came across a online remote terminal and when accessed you can gain access to the following features

Quote:Master Name Index

Non-Traffic Citations

Warning Notices
Incident Records

Location Check Requests/Reports

Traffic Accident Reports

Arrest Records

Master Vehicle File

Magistrates Transmittal
Property and Evidence

Traffic Citations

Department Inventory

Wants and Warrants

* Parking Violation Citations
Anyways whats the problem?

1. User Enumeration Possible Exploit

The Combo boxes after a user hits enter it sends a request to the database to see if it matches the Police officer Badge Id for username followed by a fixed length from 5 characters

2. DDOS

If a user ddoses this ip address it will shutdown the whole

911 Police dispatch service protocols and every cop car within that county when they pull someone over or have to do a lookup on a particular individual with a simple DDOS

no cop in that county can do anything

Anyways here is a picture to prove it

Enjoy

Fake as it gets bud

Whats it called? PoliceHackerV3.bat? ?

GuyGusk - July 13, 2015, 3:35 am

This is known to be fake, and if it was real, it would cause a huge disruption. I don't trust you.

DARPA - July 13, 2015, 3:38 am

Yeah i invented that shit. I am the 100% true and lawful owner of that. Fear me....

AmishGuy - July 13, 2015, 3:43 am

The guy only has 10 posts. I'm going to call troll bait on this one.

VanilliaCoke - July 13, 2015, 10:54 am

nope its real i had to hide the real ip address so people couldnt connect to it

Oh yea? First of all If you actually were able to get into that, you wouldn't be boasting on a forum. That would bring way too much attention. Secondly your first post was this year and you said you were a beginner. You don't go from nothing to pro that fast. Thirdly out of curiosity what vpn do you claim to have used?

You think i care about attention?

Secondly your first post was this year and you said you were a beginner.

People learn dont they?

Or i could have social engineered HackForums to make me look like a newb whatever suites you

Thirdly out of curiosity what vpn do you claim to have used?

Where did i say i was using a VPN?
