AnonShare

Yes, this will dynamically update.

I've made some updates to my site, and am continuing to make updates as we speak. AnonShare is a image and text upload & sharing website where we keep no logs besides the URL. Feel free to use it whenever you may need to.

If you have any suggestions, comments, or feedback then please let me know!

I think I might start using this for when I try doxing

Just quick suggestion. I used it and it works pretty fast the only thing is that it would be cool to go back easier to share maybe a text instead of another image.

Some issues with your site

- You linked a https:// version when your site can easily be stripped of the https://
- You have some scripts that are not compatible with https://

The rest looks pretty nice, just trying to help! :)

It doesn't really matter if you use https or http. I just linked it copied from my url bar.

It may cause the site to be unfunctional if a script you use isn't supported by https://

I don't think that would happen considering I'm not using anything third party, but thank you.

I like the simplistic design. :) Maybe you can make this entire site one-page.

SIM-2306826 - September 22, 2015, 5:58 pm

I may try and do that, thanks for the opinion :)
