i found a easy trick to see if its a real buyer or not whenever people ask for a bikini or naked preview i ask a preview of their paypal account to see if they actually got the money and most people just stop replying after that so you know that they tried to scam you lol

I ask them how they can pay, if they say PayPal or Amazon I send them an arousing but non nude live photo and continue to handle about the price.

I honestly don't see a use in asking for a screenshot of their PayPal.

Hmm, that may work out for some, but some others can use inspect element.
