Probably about 5 days a week for 8 hours a day almost all year round.

Congratz on your earnings man, but to be real here you could make 8x that working minimum wage

I hope that is a joke, but if not then I recommend you take the time to find a minimum wage job and you would be balling compared to that. :P

I hope this is like, the little amount of money you put aside each month after using the rest of your pay.

?iven - July 15, 2015, 3:30 am that's horrible... work fulltime and earn 20,000 at the age of 17...

TheNakedEmperor - July 15, 2015, 3:32 am

Sweet earns man, I woulda paid u x2 that to sit that amount of time and stare at paint drying

XuidDump - July 15, 2015, 3:34 am

You realize that if you actually spent that time to make $1,620 in a year, you were making ~$0.6 an hour?

60 fucking cents an hour... ???

The Masturbator - July 15, 2015, 3:38 am

Stop judging people. It actually depends where you live in.

In my country, people work ~12 hours a day for $170/month, and this guy here is earning $135, from his PC.

Maybe I'm wrong, but what you are all saying is not that cool.

WZFX - July 15, 2015, 3:54 am approx. 40 hrs x 52 = approx. 2080 hrs for $1600 AUD..

No good mate, good luck with your future endeavours.

D?xing - July 15, 2015, 4:56 pm

I honestly have no clue why people are judging him. What if he been applying for jobs but hasn't got any yet? He clearly has to make money somehow and we all start somewhere.

OT: Good job OP! Everyday is a day you learn and who knows as you may even be everyone's boss who posted here one day.

I strive to be like you. Putting in that 40x52, that's where we all strive to be. 1.6k? Absolutely ridiculous.

Looking for BH partners! - July 15, 2015, 5:46 pm

Just thought I'd put it out there that this was back from tax, I only got $1620 back.

This is how much I make fortnightly:
