Thread: Scammed £100 by iWatch | uid=156256

Novex - July 16, 2015, 4:39 am

Hello guys, this is a very old deal which happened between iWatch and I. Me and my partner have agreed on investing £100 for camera equipment for his youtube channel, however, after a few months he told me that he quit the project and he can't pay the money back, so I chose an alternative payment method which is CPA mentorship, I have only done about 2 mentorship sessions and then i wanted out as his service was not up to my expectations, he missed a lot of the sessions, making up excuses why he cant attend, etc. So i told him that I want my money back and he agreed on paying me back by mid June. However, he has still not paid me since, he then told me he cannot pay this time too. I have then proposed for alternative payment such as a cpa site, he agreed but still no reply from him, whilst i see him online on hackforums.

Yes sir! Do you happen to have XMPP/Jabber? I haven't scammed you at all, and I would never scam for such an amount. It'll literally take me 15 minutes to make $500-1,000 blackhat-wisely if I'm desperate. Why should I put any trust in you and actually believe that racks64 is really not you, it would be impossible that I'd be magically added and started talking to someone specifically about this issue.

First, you were asking me to delete this thread and after you would help me resolve it, this is so you can get rid of the blame. You were then saying that it is not yourself which actually scammed me, but somebody else.

Ok, how is HF community going to help you about the fact that you don't trust me with PayPal? Assuming I'm paying from my credit card, I can chargeback any fucking processor you idiot.

Invalid report, OP refused a refund for the secondth time.

Yeah well, thing is, you seem to have a tendency of fucking people over, so you will 99.99% chance chargeback my payment.

When you can pay me via Skrill / Bitcoins let me know, I will have this thread closed in no time.

Speaking about idiots..

I want to pay via PayPal as it's the easiest way for me rn, due to other things that are superior.

Assuming you're still going to bitch about it, and just frame me instead of accepting the god damned payment, I won't pay you back.
