What do you think?

I don't like the split in colors, and something about the text is off. Looks bad with the bar with the slogan.

The darker tone adds depth, so I would say regardless of which side you put the darker tone on, keep it consistent through all variations. (Eg. Darker blue should be on the right in the bottom one, or darker yellow should be on the left in the top one)

some masonic shit over here

The asymmetry feels really imbalanced, and it reminds me of the ussr crest nice crisp lines though so good work on that

With slogan just seems to give it a really nice touch that's easy and relaxing on the eyes. Good job ?

I would probably place the "Pollu text on the right side instead of the left, I think it'll be more clear that it should read "Apollu" that way. Other than that nice job, and I agree with most of the statements above
