Thread: Silent IRC/HTTP Bot \(Private\)

Lrrr - July 21, 2015, 10:20 am

Just trying to base user interest in this project

Would there be any interested parties looking to purchase:

Private (Written from scratch) application with the following features:

Base Application:

Written in C#

All hand written (no copy/paste)

Anti VM/Sandbox

Size: 14kb (Working on this size)

Administration:

The application can be used with a Web Panel or IRC

For IRC:

Install (Download & Run)

Update (Download, Remove self, and Run new file)

Remove (Remove from system)

Die (Stop!)

Join

Part

Raw

Port Scan

SSH Brute (This is beta and is not done yet)

For web panel the application supports:

Install (Download & Run)

Update (Download, Remove self, and Run new file)

Remove (Remove from system)

Die (Stop!)

Just trying to gauge if I should continue thinking of things users may want from this application (if anyone is actually interested)

Or if I should just continue development on my own (It works perfectly for what I use it for.)

Sounds pretty cool OP, And the HTTP + IRC Administration is great

Is it an IRC bot or a downloader?

I'm not sure what you mean by "downloader" but I may have used the term incorrectly.

This application is basically designed to download files from the web and execute them via IRC or HTTP commands, and secondarily choosing to remove itself or not based on those commands.

Then it's a bot and not a downloader since you have more functions then needed.

Cool, thank you for the correction. Changed title!
