Reason: Over the past month or two, Hash G. has submitted quite a few high quality userscripts that have enhanced members ability to use and browse Hack Forums. He has only been a member here for just over six months, but has contributed more than some members have contributed over the course of several years. I'm nominating Hash G. because I believe he deserves to be recognized for all the hard work he's put into these userscripts with certainly many to come in the near future.

Reason: Tony Stark has been a positive influence on HackForums for many years. He's always been a helpful member and willing to help anyone improve. He's currently the head of the HF Live Radio, which is promoting Hack Forums while giving a safe and enjoyable environment for people to congregate. He's also promoting business on HF by advertising the services and products located within the forum as well. He's consistently hosting giveaways and contests for members to enjoy and be apart of. He's also a loyal and dedicated Mentor who has been a huge part of cleaning the forum and making it neat and desirable while maintaining the quality of the position. He would be a perfect nominee for the Member of the Month because his dedication to this forum can be seen in multiple outlets.

Regards,
Pentatonix.
