Thread: Scammed \$180 by iWatch | uid=156256

Power - July 24, 2015, 11:02 am

I bought iWatch's service for him to get me an Instagram account. He told me he had it and it was secured and then later told me it had issues securing it and couldn't send me the details. We agreed on 9 days, yet it's been over 3 weeks and he keeps telling me he's on vacation or he has family issues. Multiple other users have also been opening scam reports on him.

My first deal dispute thread so if I've messed up on anything let me know and I'll fix it.

Edit, iWatch is now saying I told him he could keep the money. I never said that.

did he show you any sort of proof of owning the account?

always pay after they show you they own it, because most of these services are iffy at best.

He didn't own the account, he told me he could recover it and give me the details. Which he said he had done.

You don't want the account, nor do you want a refund and now you're bitching.

Ok, I guess I'll just not give you anything then.

I've told you multiple times to refund me, I even offered to accept PayPal..

I'll post proof I've told you in a second.
