what makes this better then other account crackers?

1. This project is an active development, constantly looking and updating codes to improve efficiency and fix any bugs. As of result, users run the program and crack accounts without encountering a single problem while achieving very high speeds during the cracking process.
2. We take network suggestions. If you would like a network added, feel free to contact us.
3. You have abundance of options. You have the option to crack accounts using either a combo list or a password list. You have the option to run both the combo list and password list cracking at the same time. You also have the option to use proxies and set your own number of threads for the tool to run. All these allows maximum flexibility and functionality of the cracking process.
4. Cheap, cheap, cheap! This account cracker is very cheap based on the amount of networks you can crack from.

I do not know what you mean by "forwards or backwards cracking" but it tries to log into the account with each password you provided in the password list from top to bottom.

We have added cracking support for Minecraft! We also fixed a small bug in the program and reduced the price to $5! This means we are the cheapest account cracker on the market while supporting many networks to crack from! Below is a list of currently supported networks as of today:

Netflix

Twitter

PSN
Instagram
Uber
Facebook
Reddit
Minecraft

Ok, i bought it, but when i imported a proxy list the cracker crashed (3k proxies).

Going to try to lower the amount.

Edit : 1k-2k proxy list (No crash) but 3k+ and above will crash.

Well, i don't know if modules are working since it did not hit on my accounts.

Vaxorr - August 14, 2015, 9:42 am vouch for this it works.

there is some bugs like when I try a module it spams textboxes and I have to press ok to display that the account is not working.

also got this... tried some random lists from online.. also crashed. used a smaller list and didn't find any accounts, will keep trying

I have imported 5k proxies and the program worked fine for me. If you import a large amount of proxies, the program will freeze for a couple of seconds. You just have to wait. How fast the proxies are imported is based on your computer's performance.

We have fixed this. Just reopen the program and it'll self auto update :)

(Aug 14, 2015 01:10 PM)Morock Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) also got this... tried some random lists from online.. also crashed. used a smaller list and didn't find any accounts, will keep trying
There was an issue with the functionality of cracking with password list which caused the program to crash. We have fixed that issue. We have tested all networks as of this post and we have yet to experience a crash.

-Taunt - August 14, 2015, 5:14 pm

Vouch for it as it works!

One small problem might just be for me since I'm on a RDP but it keeps crashing.

Vaxorr - August 15, 2015, 4:41 am

It works but it gives me false accounts as working.

Secret Agent - August 18, 2015, 4:06 pm

We have released quite a big update that came in a lot of changes. There was some problems with Netflix and Minecraft which was now fixed. When a proxy is not working, it is retried with a different proxy until there is a working proxy. And finally if you add %user% in your password list, the program will replace %user% with the username it is currently cracking so it tries to crack an account using its username as a password.

The users benefit from the licensing system because people who didn't purchase this program is restricted access from using this program. If a buyer paid for this program while another person is using it for free, the buyer who paid would be upset and there would be conflict.

The PSN network cracker is working flawlessly on my end. Runescape seemed to have improved their login security which may be affecting the ability to crack Runescape accounts. I will investigate this further.

RuneScape has improved their log in protection where if you failed logging in twice, you have to enter in a captcha. This is avoided using a different IP address so using proxies are recommended for RuneScape module. There is nothing we can do on our side about this log in protection.

I've been waiting X minutes, and it has had no updates such as attempted attempts on cracking X account? I think I want a refund if you don't add these features.

There is no stat. However, you can see that it is cracking because when you click the "Start Cracking" button, the button will be disabled and the "Stop Cracking" button will be enabled. When the cracking is finished, a message box will pop up and the "Start Cracking" button will be enabled and the "Stop Cracking" button will be disabled.

Well, could you add a stat then? It would be very helpful. Also, I'm having a problem, so I'm trying to crack Minecraft accounts but it won't let me edit the amount of threads, and I think it doesn't work since I put my own account in to see if it works and it says "Not Found". It just seems to be picking random passwords off the lists, the password changes every time, and is never right. For multiple accounts.

Yes Facebook is working. What do you mean bypass the attempts? Our cracker does not bypass any system, it just tries to log in regularly. You can probably avoid it using proxies.

we all know even if you uses proxy if you try how many times logging in on the same account it will not be available to try for a couple of minutes. so its like 30 attempts for every single account until someone get the password right.

PSN module should be working but it is recommended to use proxies since they block people with too many login attempts.

Your proxies and threads are why it's slow cracking. I've just individually checked every network and updated it for those that weren't working properly.

The speed of the cracker depends on your internet/proxy speed. The program fully supports proxies and has no issues there. Your proxies may not work if the site you're trying to crack from has blocked your proxies. If you want to investigate the problem further, let me know through PM.

The account cracker and the email cracker are two separated products since they're both big tools.

I don't see how crackers wouldn't be 100% accurate so this cracker would be 100% accurate. I don't believe there is a way to get a username's emails from Yelp's site.

You do not need to enter any PSN captcha as long as you have proxies.

Your IP will still get blocked for too many requests which is why you need proxies.
