

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Starting your own clothing line | Anybody got experience?

Dan Smith - July 29, 2015, 8:55 am

Hi,

I've been looking into starting my own clothing line, and I remember that some members have attempted this before. Does anybody have experience with it? How did you start? How did it turn out?

Let me know, I'd like to talk to you!

Dan

Balding - July 29, 2015, 8:56 am

I have a good friend who owns a company called "Outset Apparel." He runs it off a 145k Tumblr and makes b0nk. If you need tips pm.

Eoto - July 29, 2015, 8:57 am

I would just recommend not doing it. Vicious marketplace. I would do, wristbands or something and sell them at music festivals.

Dan Smith - July 29, 2015, 8:59 am

(Jul 29, 2015 08:57 AM)Nahko Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would just recommend not doing it. Vicious marketplace. I would do, wristbands or something and sell them at music festivals.
What do you mean with vicious exactly?

Eoto - July 29, 2015, 9:04 am

(Jul 29, 2015 08:59 AM)Dan Smith Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you mean with vicious exactly?
It's just a very highly competitive market. If you are trying to make money there are easier ways. But if clothing is something you are passionate about, by all means do what you love man. But it is a highly competitive market.

Happeh - July 29, 2015, 9:06 am

Sure Satu might have some tips on this.

Dan Smith - July 29, 2015, 11:50 am

(Jul 29, 2015 09:06 AM)Happeh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sure Satu might have some tips on this.
Alright, I'll hit him up. Thanks.