Thread: Stop the flight ticket bullshit, please read..

IncarnatiOn - July 29, 2015, 11:57 am

First of all, if you've already done this to someone and got like a thousand or something from a 'customer' for you to buy a plane ticket and visit them, just redeem yourself and send the money back ...

Have you ever thought to yourself "why does he pay all this money to meet an ewhore?" well, chances are he fucking loves you, enough to pay a big portion of his bank account just to meet you.. It's just wrong to do this, you're not eWhoring, you're not social engineering, you're just being a terrible humanbeing. Most of us are nerds and love comes rare, one would think that we of all people would appreciate love and its value since we so rarely have it, well that 'pedo' you just ripped off is probably socially awkward too, and he probably did learn a really hard lesson from you, but are you really going to live with yourself like this? No matter what your beliefs are, Karma will always come back and bite you like a bitch. Are you really going to risk never finding love just for that new gaming PC? Or that new xbox one? Are you really prepared to live with yourself like this?

If you are 13-16 then right now this won't hurt you, but make no mistake about it the guilt will hunt you down as you grow older, and you won't have any way to redeem yourself as it will have already been too late...

-A message from IncarnatiOn

Edit: this thread has brought a lot of intelligent minds to contribute with their opinions and thoughts, thank you to everyone who posted. Although I stand by my point (please scroll down and read my replies) I respect your opinions and I understand them to an extent.

Edit 2: please, this thread is not to justify eWhoring, this is just a public message to wake some people up and hopefully help someone redeem themselves or prevent them from doing a horrible thing...

Edit 3: People still don't seem to understand that I'm not comparing this to eWhoring or trying to justify eWhoring at all, and it's getting frustrating so I will close the thread.

I don't ewhore, however in the ewhore game I can't imagine having morals works out. You are in it for the money, you are essentially always ripping people off. Shouldn't you be going for the largest amount possible?

Snapbytes - July 29, 2015, 12:00 pm

Or he's probably a very old rich man who can afford to buy a plane ticket just to fuck a young girl.

?hance The Rapper - July 29, 2015, 12:01 pm

This is actually a High quality thread, and I think more people need to see this. Vouch for OP's brain.

Kaneki. - July 29, 2015, 12:01 pm

I don't feel the least bit bad about it.

It's their choice to spend money on this type of stuff, and to be honest, not many people have the mindset you do, lol.

I don't want to sound rude -- but we're here to make money, not feel bad for doing it.

Spoiler (Click to View) if you eWhore, you're just as bad as the things you're describing.

Walt Disney™ - July 29, 2015, 12:01 pm

I'd buy a plane ticket to fuck my whore. Any. Damn. Day.

I like to think that people do this for some spare money to get like $50 or $100 max out of a customer (at least per session) and always deliver what is promised. That is eWhoring and social engineering combined (sexting, persuasion).

Theoretically speaking you are doing the exact same thing the girl would do, literally. As long as you deliver what is promised and keep the illusion, both parties are satisfied, and now you can get yourself a nice new Steam game or a new Playstation controller..etc

Selling nudes is abusing their trust. They trust you are actually a female when in reality you are probably as equally lonely as the men you sell nudes to ?

You could just as easily invest $200 of the $1000 flight cost into a prostitute with a fetish advertisement that looks similar and essentially still please your customer!

I am not saying it's impossible for him to be on kik looking for one online, but I just find it highly unlikely. (and the 'rich old men' are usually too intellect to social engineer/ewhore anyway)

There's no morals involved with E-Whoring, point blank. Drop that shit and let it go if you want to start doing it.

Think about it: Some of these guys pay money that they need, they might be in a tight situation and give you their last dollar. Why is it that just a plane ticket matters? Not that $100 or the last $10 the guy had? There's been countless stories about people milking until there was nothing left, ruining relationships, etc. Why is the plane ticket different?

It's not. E-Whoring has no morals, it's a cut-clean and simple game. Now that's just half my opinion, and I usually don't speak about it much in public.

If you care about karma - E-Whoring isn't for you.

Mikael Blomkvist - July 29, 2015, 12:05 pm

I haven't done that, but i wouldn't, thats a big scam...

However, what you're saying about morality its bullshit since ewhoring is a very immoral thing (i don't give a shit about it). Just think about it. You're impersonating someone to a very ignorant dude to get money. Thats it. That doesn't enter as something moral according to society... so thats bullshit.

Reality doesn't matter in the virtual world you create on kik, you are what your brain tells you you see and process, this is irrelevant as long as both parties are satisfied. But you are right about the lonely part ^^

Phreakdaline - July 29, 2015, 12:15 pm

Your morality argument is valid. The flaw in it is that some people don't give a shit. I've of the variety that has no problem ripping some dudes off, but I don't ever go hunting the thousands either. I'm an adult, I have a full time job, I do it to get a little extra spending money every once in a while. But to be frank, someone who does this trying to make lots of money, has to decide if they're willing to do those things and live with it. I say if they are, fine. It's no more "wrong" than any of the rest of e-whoring. To me it's the same thing. It is sad that someone is willing to pay like that, but it is what it is, and asking users who have that mindset just won't go anywhere imo.

TLDR I respect your opinion, and you're right. But it's kinda pointless to post that here if you're really trying to reach people.

Jump Around - July 29, 2015, 12:16 pm

Karma doesn't exist tho...

eightz - July 29, 2015, 12:18 pm

This is just stupid and is a horrible act to do honestly.

IncarnatiOn - July 29, 2015, 12:25 pm

A lot of you seem to be missing a very important point, not only is this morally wrong, but it is also straight up fraud & scam, and not for a small amount... There are so many ways to justify ewhoring especially to a minimum (nudes, sexting, vids) but I see no way to justify stealing from someone and then breaking their heart. That's not just scamming, that's being a horrible person too..

Some people scam to feed their daughters in India, or to help save their dying mother's surgery costs, or just to "live the American dream" and starting off by scamming a big company or something similar. It's not always a horrible person that's scamming my friend. Although I've never scammed before in my life *cough*music*cough* and I really am not trying to defend scammers in any way (especially the ones that scam average people and not big companies or millionaires)

I will still come to my argument's defense and say that it might be shitty to pretend to be someone you're not, but is it really even remotely comparable to stealing someone's payday in the name of greed?
