Thread: Port forward in vmware guest os + vpn

legendaryfiles - July 30, 2015, 6:42 am

Hi there,

I am using hideandseekvpn.I purchased it just to solve port forwarding issue.

When i port forward from my host os then canyouseeme.org shows a positive result but when i boot up my guest os and connect to vpn inside guest then port forwarding does not works.

I tried it with NAT and bridge connection but noting seems to be working for now

Can someone provide a detailed guide on this.?

When you are using NAT, you need to setup portforwarding in VMWare network manager for your guest.

Another solution would be to run the VPN inside the VM instead.

That's odd, it has always worked for me. I don't know how the VPN you use work so

I can't assist you further, sorry.

Do you have any kind of firewall or AV with port blocking capabilities running?

in host os port forwarding is working but not in guest os.

I guest os there's no av or any kind of software running to block connection
