Thread: Webrequest sender using Proxies

Hello HF!

I made a program for myself because I needed to send unique views to a certain page. I got this to work for the site I needed it for so I don't know if it will work for any other site. (I know It wont work on YouTube).

It uses Webrequests and proxies

It was really useful for me so I decided to release it as it might be useful for someone else. :)

I just looked at it again and I don't think its sending the http webrequest correctly. But the source is still here if you wanna work on it!

I am pretty sure it will work for more sites as a webrequest doesn't need to be adjusted for many sites (unless you want to post data or something).
