Yeah, it's a big turn-off when they see the same name because they'll know it'll shut down but seems like he's not involved with this forum but he refers to every forum as his own.

Your forum looks promising, trust me. I was just commenting on how people view others when things happen like that. Your last forum was 2 years ago? That's great, I was actually commenting about the other member which has a new forum each week or at least claims Dotoxicity as his own. "Our/my site got hacked."

I might even register, good luck.
