Thread: How do you ask for money without blowing your pretext?

Whenthedragons - August 9, 2015, 1:06 pm

Hey, I've been in a ditch of unemployment and brokeassness for about two months. Staying afloat by doing odd jobs that pay decently but aren't a steady paycheck. I found out about ewhoring and being good at social engineering, I decided to take it up. Here is the problem, I've made one solid pretext so far, "she" has a paypal account, a Facebook and Twitter, Amazon account and a Kik. This won't be the only character I will make, but this is by far the most complex. I'm having a hard time asking for money. Its not that I want to give this stuff away for free, no, its that in my experience, the second money comes up, they run. Or I will ask for money and something will slip and they will think I'm a scammer(I'm not btw). How do you ask for money without it seeming sketchy or making them run?

I'm confused, Are you a girl?

DaintyBow - August 9, 2015, 1:17 pm

You simply wait for them until they ask about pictures of you or asking for nudes.

once they ask,you can go ahead with a sentence like "sorry,i am only selling atm",or what ever you'll like.

If you don't wanna waste a lot of time chatting them,you can send them a sentence like this- "i am selling nudes atm,wbu?" once they ask "how are you,what are you up to",and so

Hope some of this helped yes ;) want 2 buy some pics?

In all seriousness, no, i'm shamelessly pretending to be one to make these alleged "mad fukkin' stacks" everyone seems to be pulling doing this.

Thanks, I will have to try this out. Also, is Omegle still a good place to grab from?

I could say I'm just some jungle chick that has abnormally small tits and a really hairy chest lol. I could probably find a picture of what you are talking about and then photoshop it. That's a good idea.

the reason they run is because you're not weeding out the people who don't have money. don't let them stray away from your agenda and stay on the topic of selling.

Nywma - August 9, 2015, 1:25 pm

Just be patient and ask smoothly, don't rush into talking money. It will take time and some will leave, but thats how it is.

Good luck! (:

Good luck on doing that. I have started it only today by myself.

When advertising for traffic, say what you are doing "selling" (If that site allows it). So when they are messaging you, they know exactly what they're getting into. You might have less traffic but, it's kinda of like a filter for the time waster. But in some occasion you're probably going to run into some trolls or freeloaders ask for free previews "before they buy".

Thanks, I'm going to need it lol. Never pretext'ed as a girl before so this shit is good practice for that.

I have photoshop and an idea of how to make the paper appear like its been written on. But extra tips could help. But sadly I am to new to send PMs.

Just ask guys to hit you up on lol or whatever then talk to them then eventually ask for money
