Thread: Need a long term partner to run a minecraft server

arimaru - August 9, 2015, 1:06 pm

I have a nice strong dedicated server and have a nice image for a server but i'm just too damn lazy to go about fully setting it up.

to keep it to a TL:DR

Need someone to help set up the server. Hub / economy and whatever a server needs (willing to help in every way as well, i'm knowledgeable in the scene just very busy)

Asking yourself why the hell you should help some random lurker who just seems like an ass?

I'll provide you with a free server on my dedicated with a reasonable amount of ram provided you purchase your own domain name for the A record ?

Still looking for a partner.

if you would like to know the specs of the dedicated just throw me a private.

A partner has been found.

I have run some very successful servers in the past, and I've been considering getting back into Minecraft. If you are still looking for someone to help, I MIGHT be interested. PM me some details about the dedi and your vision, and we'll talk.
