Was going to release this as an eBook, but decided to give it away for free xD

(image quality is terrible xD)

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

(noticed a mistake on the image, on the segway board the price should be in $, not £)

Hope you enjoy =]

Cool! Thank you for giving this out for free, I might try this method soon, seems simple! :-)
Haven't had any luck earning anything online yet, so it would be cool if this worked for me.
Best Regards, oOoRaDaRoOo

These tutorials are really nice and helpful, but becareful! You can do many mistakes when you start a business like that. I live in germany and sold months ago some USB Sticks from alibaba on ebay. My problem was, that they where faked (didn't know that before) and some buyers noticed that and want their money back ^^ and one fu buyer reported me by the police without any prior warning -.-

why would method 3 be least profitable? i was thinking of doing that & also, do you have any advice for someone with no paypal?

Seanster17 - August 10, 2015, 10:41 pm

Everyone knows this already, and when ur drop shipping expensive items nd selling on ebay you have to take the seller fees in account which will diminish your profit, stick to items in the 20$-80$ range if you wanna see any profit. Also its very saturated, you will see yourself competing with many powersellers who are doing the same thing with cheaper prices than you and you wont get any buyers. I know this from experience its not as easy as it looks trust me.

At least you contributed :)

That doesn't sound very nice.. Did the police do anything after the police report?

If you do method 3 then id advise you only accept bank transfer as an alternative to paypal.

Iv tried #3 and for me it was the least profitable as I wasn't get people to the site, where as on eBay there already there.
