

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: ChitterChat: Online Chat Room Communities

--Secret-- - August 13, 2015, 10:15 am

For the past month I have been developing ChitterChat, a web app that allows members to create real-time chat rooms for like-minded communities to get together and socialize in unique way. It has features inspired from sites like reddit, twitch, and twitter.

This is very much in a demo state where I am trying to collect feedback build off of that. So please let me know any suggestions or concerns you have and feel free to drop a message in a chat room. I will be active in the general chat most of the day to answer any questions.

Site Url: www.chitterchat.net

Not Funny - August 13, 2015, 10:17 am

It seems more just like a forum to be honest man. Not very original looking. Can you explain the difference of chatter chat and any other discussion board? Thanks. ?

--Secret-- - August 13, 2015, 10:25 am

I would say it is in between a discussion board and a real-time chat room. Where a discussion board is split down into tons of different threads and chat rooms are more collective in one area. Also realize the rooms update in real-time, there is no need to sit there refreshing to wait for feedback on something. I also watched you nav the site, you only went to the home page and then left. Thanks for the feedback tho.

DarkN3ss61 - August 29, 2015, 11:19 pm

hehe.....

Other than that, awesome site! :D

--Secret-- - August 29, 2015, 11:50 pm

Thanks Darkn3ss you probably saved me some trouble in the future!