Thread: My website traffic is good in a niche market \( but \) - traffic picture included -

Meterpreter - August 14, 2015, 1:36 pm

BUT, I am not adsense eligible nor do I think the traffic is heavy enough to turn a profit from adsense alone but... It is a niche market and the traffic is growing I've analyzed enough data to figure out where I should take the next step my problem is how can I start turning a profit now with the traffic I do have... I must say all of this traffic is organics from google and it is all sought after, none of this traffic is by mistake.

Id say that's good enough for adsense, I think adsense gives beteen $0.05 to $0.01, so let's say 1/3 of the clicks your site clicks convert to adsense clicks at $0.05 each x 2866 clicks is over $100 & if you do it at $0.11 that's over $300

The one problem is my niche market is not adsense eligible so I will not get approved through the adsense network. I'm still waiting on a reply back from media.net

I was thinking possibly about an E-book.

I don't know what kind of niche your website is in but i do know that Google Adsense with these amounts of traffic is completely shit. Try affiliate marketing with e.g. selling products.

MarkRaven - August 19, 2015, 6:51 am

Create an E-mail list and promote affiliate products to your list along with any new posts / content.

OR mix affiliate content into your site in the form of 'contextual links' in the text already there and create posts targeting certain affiliate products.

I'm curious as to the direction you were hoping to take the site if like you say it wasn't adsense eligible and you didn't have any way of monetizing?

Either way just look what products you can sell, or even check the competition and see how they are monetizing.

In General Google wont permit the porn, racism etc... oriented sites for adsense.

But can earn more with expensive Google adsense keywords..
go thru googlekeywords.net

If it's "adult" related you may want to try popcash.net

Not the best for revenue, but it will get some cash flow going

Do you have any products you can affiliate with and sell from your site?

Honestly you need a viral website these days to make money with google adsense, I would say you find products on amazon or something along those lines.

I may have a good opportunity for you to make some good money from your followers from your social media sites and/or website. Let me know if you would like to learn more
