

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Found all Direct links to Apple Beta Software, directly from Apple. NO DEVELOPER NEED

DiploCity - August 14, 2015, 9:13 pm

I found iOS and WatchOS betas (iOS 9 ; WatchOS beta) while trolling on Apple. In the time, I was like alright, grabbed my iPad Air, and uploaded that iOS 9 sucker to see if it work without dev access. IT WORKED!

So now, Apple will be losing 99$ from every developer license that they don't get? Should I release the all-inclusive links from the Apple Server?

Fart Licker - August 14, 2015, 9:18 pm

do it m8 ive got ur back my dad works at the cbi demigode - August 15, 2015, 12:24 am lol you really think they would allow ios 9 flashing without some sort of auth?

OhMyLove - August 15, 2015, 12:46 am kappa

<https://beta.apple.com/sp/betaprogram/>

angrymcdouble - August 15, 2015, 10:57 am

(Aug 14, 2015 09:13 PM)DiploCity Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I found iOS and WatchOS betas (iOS 9 ; WatchOS beta) while trolling on Apple. In the time, I was like alright, grabbed my iPad Air, and uploaded that iOS 9 sucker to see if it work without dev access. IT WORKED!

So now, Apple will be losing 99$ from every developer license that they don't get? Should I release the all-inclusive links from the Apple Server?

The directly from Apple seems odd.

Are you sure you weren't connected to your dev account ?

Cause with a direct link for this iPhone 5s iOs 9 beta 5 it will ask for authentication directly.

Also it's kind of useless, because you can restore to the public beta, remove a cert, and OTA to the latest dev beta.

DiploCity - August 15, 2015, 8:31 pm

(Aug 15, 2015 10:57 AM)angrymcdouble Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The directly from Apple seems odd.

Are you sure you weren't connected to your dev account ?

Cause with a direct link for this iPhone 5s iOs 9 beta 5 it will ask for authentication directly.

Also it's kind of useless, because you can restore to the public beta, remove a cert, and OTA to the latest dev beta.

Well there was an RSA already assigned to it and it was *.apple.com

(Aug 15, 2015 10:57 AM)angrymcdouble Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The directly from Apple seems odd.

Are you sure you weren't connected to your dev account ?

Cause with a direct link for this iPhone 5s iOS 9 beta 5 it will ask for authentication directly.

Also it's kind of useless, because you can restore to the public beta, remove a cert, and OTA to the latest dev beta.

Yeah but this also leaks new OS versions, so what's not to say that this file may contained the already signed direct link to fucking iOS 10 or Mac OS 11

Sielan - June 14, 2018, 9:48 am

(Aug 14, 2015 09:13 PM)DiploCity Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I found iOS and WatchOS betas (iOS 9 ; WatchOS beta) while trolling on Apple. In the time, I was like alright, grabbed my iPad Air, and uploaded that iOS 9 sucker to see if it work without dev access. IT WORKED!

So now, Apple will be losing 99$ from every developer license that they don't get? Should I release the all-inclusive links from the Apple Server?

Hi, how are ya? Hey would you be able to point me in th right direction for unlocking an iPad mini? I got it from air unclaimed auction thinkin that would b enough for 'proof of purchase' but.. ? nup... could you plz help?

(Aug 15, 2015 08:31 PM)DiploCity Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well there was an RSA already assigned to it and it was *.apple.com

Yeah but this also leaks new OS versions, so what's not to say that this file may contained the already signed direct link to fucking iOS 10 or Mac OS 11

Hi., sorry Cos this might b odd.. or not? But I'm lookin for someone to point me in th right direction to unlock an iPad mini I got off an 'airport unclaimed auction' could you help?