Thread: How to get any username on HF AKA Invisible Character

MarSy - August 15, 2015, 11:53 pm

Hey

So I've seen many people posting about this, not sure if this has been shared before.

It's easy af, there is basically an "invisible character" that you need to insert in your "original" userna????????????me .

Here it is "????????????????????", There are around 5 of them between the quotation marks. Just copy the whole thing and remove both marks, then you will be left with the char. Just ctrl + a it and copy it and paste it in your username.

Example :

Without the char "Example" With the char "E????????????????????xample"

Proof of existence ?

Enjoy ?

The method's public but not all of HF members know about this.

Strayta - August 16, 2015, 4:22 am

I would like this man if that's oka

Nasyr - August 16, 2015, 4:25 am

This is bad as it can cause issues regarding awards, scam reports and even upgrades been given out incorrectly.

It's in the thread. ?

Datageni - August 16, 2015, 4:35 am

Is this alowed on HF though? I won't get punished for changing my name with an invisible character?

There is no way to stop it on HF as of right now, only issue is that if you were to get an award etc then it might not be put on your profile due to invisible characters.

Is this supposed to be "invisible" or is it simply my iPad lol

Spoiler (Click to View)

Didn't check on my computer yet, just wondering.

Astek - August 16, 2015, 5:48 am

It's not invisible on all browsers OP, I can see the one in your name and in the thread.

Dean Winchester? - August 16, 2015, 5:51 am

I can see all of the chars you said are invisible lmao

Triestri - August 16, 2015, 5:53 am

Well this works, but people seem to be able to see it

This.

It depends on the browser, and on mobile you'll most likely see it.

Apparently I can't see it on Chrome.

It's invisible for majority of the users ?

Josh? - August 16, 2015, 5:59 am

So do people see any in my name?

Sadly, this doesn't work for me. Not sure if its because I'm not doing it correctly, or what. :/

Success - August 16, 2015, 12:36 pm

Well it may have just worked.. or no one picked this name.

You're using the wrong character encoding.

Use this one instead:

ni?g?ger

fa?ggot

Mnikkilla - August 16, 2015, 7:31 pm

I can't see anything for the invisible character, thanks for sharing this OP!

I can't see anything on Firefox, I guess it might be the Character encoding.

Won't need the guide but nice one, thanks :)

Yes, you will be repfucked, banned or even closed.

(Jul 17, 2014 01:33 PM)Roger Waters Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You are allowed to use invisible characters, but keep in mind that it will be harder for people to find you on here when they are trying to send you a message or find you using the search and Member List features. Also, if you use this to impersonate an Administrator, Staff, or Mentor you will suffer the consequences which include a rep fuck, ban, or even account closure. Also, if you use an invisible character to impersonate any user in general, you will be subject to consequences such as those listed above. If you are just trying to have the username of an account that was once used on here but that account is now closed, then I see no problem with using that special character to get the username you desire as long as you do not misuse it in any way, shape or form. Seeing how your question has been answered, I will now close this thread. Feel free to send me a private message if you need anymore help or need something explained further, I will try my best to help you out.

tbh I can't even select your "invisible characters" between the quotes. Even with the zoom. Hope you aren't trolling me lol.

"????????????????????" Remove the quotation mark from right to left, after you remove the first one, press backspace, you will realize that you aren't removing anything, that's the invis character.

Then just hover over the other quotation mark and remove that too, then just ctrl + a and copy it and paste it in your username.

Usually, you can't type those words on HF. But, I used the invisible character to avoid the censorship.

Niko - August 17, 2015, 1:05 pm

Each new line here, has a different "Invisible" character, so one of them should work for everyone's system.

#Start

<---- (0 Width, This one is actually "Invisible")

#End

Hope this helps users with different systems.

Your name has like a billion boxes in it

SIM-1980240 - October 19, 2015, 11:04 pm

You can also make this invisible character with notepad. All you need to do is open a new .txt document in notepad and press ctrl+backspace.

420 Blaze It - October 19, 2015, 11:08 pm

I thought everyone knew about this.

NoMercy - October 20, 2015, 2:06 am

You shouldn't share this, people will use it to trick people. I know there is a small chance but it would still suck for someone to be impersonated. Thank you for sharing though, you did do it for good reasons and I appreciate that.
