Lol, you can't even make this FUD? Would take 10 minutes to make a downloader scantime FUD.

Temp_2773951 - August 21, 2015, 9:27 am

Vouch, Neos is a great salesman who sells only the best products.

Do not hesitate to buy it, it's well worth $5!

Armada - August 21, 2015, 10:05 am

Just bought this product, after I told OP to market the thing, he actually made me pay for it after my advice and buying him l33t status.. But I digress.

I encouraged him to market this for a very good reason, this is one hell of a handy tool. Its light weight, easily bindable. and discourages detection on even the most proficient AV's

With hope this will be updated regularly and kept maintained. I would like to see a few additional options added, if I wished to utilize, however I firmly believe in not rushing quality. You cant and I understand Neos taking this approach. It is a relief to be honest. ?

\\Edit

I told him to Market at about $15 BTW, his pricing, is more than reasonable. $5 is well worth the investment.

I think they aren't FUD anymore, I didn't checked them to see if they have the same features or more.

But It will be more features for this downloader.

I just updated the downloader:

No stub.

(Aug 23, 2015 02:36 PM)SoCloseToToast Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So what does this do? Is it like a crypter or something? Never knew what these tools are.

What it does?

You build with it a downloader, that downloads your RAT or anything put in the textbox silently and then run it.

This is useful is your RAT is java so it will download that jar file and run it, if you rat has a big size, if you want to download something with the rat...

Kill?Muvz - August 23, 2015, 4:26 pm

Good job making it FUD buddy :) Is it also runtime FUD? Also why is the stub so big for such a small task? PM me if you want help getting the size smaller.

It's just 24kb, not large at all.

Mcbride - October 19, 2015, 12:04 pm

Why would one buy this, the extension is same as the RAT or botnet and a webhost is required if I'm correct. What's the advantage then?

You create a downloader for your stub or/and anything else, when the target open it, it will download silently the files and run them.

I think Im kinda interested but what is the point of a downloader? Could you have a application and a crypted stub and put them both in the downloader and bind them? Or would you put the crypted stub in the downloader and after get the downloader file and bind the application with the both of them? So your crypted file wouldn't get detected.

Rottapotta - November 6, 2016, 8:12 am

It prevents from the victim to scan the downloader file, rather than the crypted stub. If your stub is 1/54, he might suspect it.
