Guys, take in this theory. Theoretically, you know somebody 6 steps or less down, that knows your idol. The theory is called Six degrees of separation.

"Six degrees of separation is the theory that everyone and everything is six or fewer steps away, by way of introduction, from any other person in the world, so that a chain of "a friend of a friend" statements can be made to connect any two people in a maximum of six steps. It was originally set out by Frigyes Karinthy in 1929 and popularized by a 1990 play written by John Guare." - Wikipedia

What are your thoughts on this? :P

90% of the time, I have no idea what the fuck I'm talking about.

Can you relate to this OP?

TSX - August 27, 2015, 9:32 pm

I think it's true. I know so many people that know someone else I know and you would've never expected it.

Vigor - August 27, 2015, 9:48 pm

No. The Six Degrees of Separation is a song by The Script.

Meow - August 27, 2015, 9:49 pm

I highly doubt that. ?

Vitani's Mate - August 27, 2015, 9:52 pm

I have a feeling that we are all related. lol

Well hypothetically then everything we are doing with each other is incest.

My head hurts now. But I'm beginning to see a way it could be possible..

At least I have a mom, you have two dads OP.

6 degrees of separation is real. It's real due to social media, and you have a friend who has a friend who has a friend who is married to Barrack Obama's cousin. It works even better around 6-7, but the idea is that it's a connected world, and everyone somehow is connected, through photos, friends on FB/Insta etc.
