Here is an opportunity to be a part of The Specialists. One of the most valuable group on site.

Good luck guns and bullets. ?

King of Hearts - September 3, 2015, 10:00 am

I would love to join. However, I don't have much experience with the business side of things.

Are you looking for someone who is an expert in coding as well as business or will a person who is decent at coding and dedicated to learn the business side suffice? It's not a requirement but it is asked in the application.

Yessir. Coding only is good enough.

Liam Cyrus Specialists Application Age: 18

Location: Los Angeles, California, USA

Spoken Language: English, beginner Spanish

Which programming/coding languages you have full command on? HTML/CSS, JavaScript, PHP, MySQL

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing? In addition to being president of RA4W VPN, which is the #1 and largest VPN on HackForums (THOUSANDS of page replies and customers) I also have ran an extremely successful hosting company on HF for nearly 3 years and counting.

Certificates or Degrees? In progress, CCNA and a degree in Computer Networking

How much time you spend online: I'm online nearly constantly whether it's mobile or computer.

Why should we choose you over other applicants? I have crazy high ambitions and would love to achieve great things with this group. I have knowledge and resources to offer in the world of hosting and networking, which could be very beneficial to the group. I communicate clearly and can work towards a driven goal with ease. I'd love to be a part of your group. I've been a member of HF since 2010, and am extremely familiar with it and the community. The tagline at the top of your thread says that each member excels in a particular field, which couldn't describe me more with my expertise in the hosting industry. Just by checking my reputation comments page you can tell that I actively contribute in the Hosting section on HF, where I've helped hundreds of members with their hosting-related issues. In addition to that, having ran several businesses and managing thousands of clients, I understand the value of marketing that is required to be successful. I'm also extremely proficient in web-development based languages (listed above), with a novice understanding of accompanying languages such as Lua and Java. I'm not a stranger to the command line and run Debian on most of my computers, and am extremely technologically proficient. I hope you consider me for your group.

Certificates or Degrees? In school

How much time you spend online: a whole lot, 6-8h/day

Why should we choose you over other applicants? I have a few years of experience of these languages, I started with vb when I was 10, got the rest when I was 12-14. I also thought my whole application would just explain why I would get chosen above the others.

Thanks

Which programming/coding languages you have full command on? HTML and CSS (If they count as a programming language haha) I am not that experienced with programming.

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing?

I have a quite lot actually. Here are some of my latest projects.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4971905> - Horus VPN

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4665482> - Jurassic Host

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4665482> - Netflix Generator

<http://no1webportal.com/> - My website.

<https://www.facebook.com/infobis> - A company that holds all of my projects.

Certificates or Degrees? Nothing more than i am in High School. But, in the future, my ambition is to become a businessman so I would probably choose MBA.

How much time you spend online: Around 5-6 hours a day.

Why should we choose you over other applicants? There is no reason haha :P Everyone have skills in their own way. I feel like i would be able to make alot of contributions to the group.

Finally. Thank you very much for taking time to read my application.

I wish everyone best of luck.

Cheers ?

LordCoder - September 3, 2015, 3:50 pm

Hello, I am LordCoder and here is my application for the Programmers and Coders Specialists section.

Age

15 years old.

Location

Spain.

Spoken Language

English and Spanish.

Which programming/coding languages you have full command on?

.NET Framework (every syntax included C#, VB, etc) and MSIL structure.

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing?

I have sold some software here in HackForums such as "Diggin' CPUs", a Silent Miner for CPU-only coins and a TeamViewer Online Computers Checker, which is very handy if you have a lot of TeamViewer accounts. I am not into software selling, because I like to share all my tools freely and helping other members without charging them, except for those kind of software that need a lot of work everyday to work and keep them updated.

Appart from that, I have been into cryptocurrency mining since 2013 therefore I have proper knowledge and skills in that term. I can recommend easily which alternative coins (alt. coins) are legit and those that are not, making a nice profit from them. My Bitcointalk account is Sr. Member, meaning I have contributed a lot to that community, same as in the Cryptocurrency subforum.

I have launched a lot of Bitcoin-related websites such as a faucet or a blog about it. I have managed to get ROI from both of them with a very low investment.

Certificates or Degrees?

I currently don't have any, because I feel you don't need one to be skilled. I can provide proofs of knowledge and many of the projects I have worked on since years.

How much time you spend online?

Talking about HackForums, I am online around 1-3 hours depending on the day, but I am always online at least once a day. I have more than a month online here in HackForums. I usually spend more time in coding and programming new software.

Why should we choose you over other applicants?

Appart from coding/programming, I am also a .NET reverse engineer. That means I can help you decompiling some software and also protecting it. I have been into RCE since 2012, and I know some useful tricks to make your application secured.

Furthermore, as I have already explained before, I am knowledgeable in cryptocurrencies. That can help your group increasing popularity in the cryptocurrency subforum.

Best regards,
LordCoder.

Languages I can use but do not know as well as others. python

JavaScript

Languages I'm learning

c++

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing?

Nothing as far as business goes. But I have a couple of open source projects from a while ago on my github. However I've improved a lot since then as they are about a year old at this point.

<https://github.com/slaughter>

Certificates or Degrees?

At this point in time I am just a hobbist. However it is my plan to pursue a career in software development. Due to bad decisions when I was in school I can not at this moment in time.

How much time you spend online:

These days I can spend over 12 hours online depending on if I got nothing to do.

Why should we choose you over other applicants?

I do not like these kinds of questions because I don't like putting other people down to try make myself look better. Not to mention I have no clue who the other applicants are so I can not really say. All I can promise is an active, friendly and hardworking individual.

Which programming/coding languages you have full command on? Java and php to an extent

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing/Coding ? I have lots of experience with marketing. I have sold many products on and offsite. I have a great attitude towards business but honestly my best skills lie elsewhere. I am very experienced with pentesting, footprint removal, doxing, malware and removal, website development, graphics, and computer engineering.

Certificates or Degrees? I'm going to school for computer engineering which I will be certified in in about 3 to 4 years. Computer engineering has been my passion for a very long time and I feel it's a great major for me. I know that I will be certified in the future, but in the near future I will have almost all of my certifications and training complete. This year I should be certified in the program language in which I'm required to take. It will most likely be c# or Java.

How much time you spend online: 7-8 hours a day on week days, probably 10-11 on weekends now that I will be starting college soon.

Why should we choose you over other applicants? Why should we choose you over other applicants? I feel that my skillset is vast as compared to being very skilled in one area. I am decently skilled in many which makes me different from most of the other applicants. I also feel that I would be a very helpful member of the group for a few reasons. One being that I love to help others. I know people in this group are already very good at what they do but I feel that I would be able to help them with other things as well. Second, I am a very sociable person and work well with others. Third, I have a lot of patience and concentration. If you ever did a group project with me I would stay on topic and work efficiently.

I have a question, what do you need coders for? I feel that groups that intake coders just use them as their personal bitches to develop products for the group which they don't profit much from.

What are your reasons for needing coders? If I think it's not of what I mentioned then I'll apply.

I think I could make a good member because even if I don't have a lot of posts or rep I am a decent and very professional coder. I spend a lot of effort on my products and I never release something with fake features or something buggy. I think that if the client is satisfied it will be better for me and him then the inverse. When a client tells me for example that my crypter has detection I will instantly make it FUD again. I am new to marketing and I would like to learn I think join this group will help me become a better seller.

Why should we choose you over other applicants? I am a dedicated user and have been loyal to hackforums for quite a few years, I'm fluent in quite a few languages and can be proven to be useful more often than not. The main reason should be because I'm a great chemist.

Thank you,
Mr. White ?

I'm sorry, are you special and should be treated like a king? No. Fuck off, write an application. ?

I may consider applying whenever my account stats look better and I actually make some threads coding/marketing related... can't exactly deal on here right now ?

As I said, Bull is already aware of my skills and that post was directed to him, not you. It is not your concern whether I write an application or not. I offered to, but I used to be the leader of the specialists coding sector in the past and was a big contributor to the group. So he may want me back ?

Which programming/coding languages you have full command on? PHP,VB.NET,HTML

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing/Coding ? I have done many websites for many clients. I have done many private projects too and some public ones that I've lost. I make Web Apps and Windows Apps. I use MySQL for my databases. Here on HF I had this little MC Alt shop wich I coded from scratch!

Certificates or Degrees? IT&Business Certification (In my country this certification exists)

How much time you spend online: In a day of 24 hours I may spend 14/16 hours.

Why should we choose you over other applicants? I am a very respectful member and I'm always looking forward to help other member as to learn from them.

Sure, fair play.

Still, I believe you should still have to write an application. If he was going to recruit people he knew had skills already, I'm sure this thread wouldn't exist and he would PM people offering spots. ?

This thread is for applications only, take your discussions somewhere else and stay on topic .

Can't apply for lack of the 1500 posts but I could design you a much more attractive looking userbar! Contact me if you're ever interested ;)

MeshCollider's Application for The Specialists

Age: 17

Location: New Zealand

Spoken Language: English (+some german)

Which programming/coding languages you have full command on? Many, including Java, C#/VB.net, Haskell, PHP (+HTML/SQL obviously). I also know some low level including some c++ / ASM (MIPS/x86)

Past work/Experience regarding Business/Marketing/Coding ? I have written a lot of tutorials on HF which can attest to my skill in coding. I am also on the Omnicoin team, which again demonstrates my skill in both coding and cryptocurrencies. I am a leader of Divine - a group focused on coding and marketing - so that should also demonstrate my specialization.

Certificates or Degrees? Currently studying for a degree in computer science, although I am only in my final year of high school. I sat second year university papers extramurally last semester and got A+ in all of them, and am sitting more this semester.

How much time you spend online: A few hours a day, varies based on IRL commitments. I have a busy schedule, I am sitting full time university at the same time as my final year of school + scholarship subjects, so my free time varies from day to day. In general, though, I will be able to find time to participate actively in the group and its activities, and will let you know if there are periods of time I may have to be inactive for.

Why should we choose you over other applicants? I have been in specialists before, and used to be the leader of the Specialists Coding sector. I have contributed a lot to the group and will continue to do so if you accept me back. I can promise you activity, member quality, and participation in projects are the things I can offer. I would continue to produce tutorials and assistance, thereby reflecting well on the group. I will also happily help out with group projects (as long as they are in areas related to my abilities).
