Thread: [\[Autobuy\] Codelux Protector v1 | FUD | Bypass AVs | EOF | Native & .NET Support | \$25](#)

Delirium™ - September 6, 2015, 8:24 am

Hello! As some of you might know, I used to sell a a crypter in the past which was successful as I had barely any complaints and I mentained a very good service around it. Some things however, prevented me from keeping the service alive and I had to shutdown the project, but I kept updating for the customers whose licenses were still active. I have been working for some time already on the revival of the project and I am back in the crypter market with my new product, Codelux Protector!

(I will add a runtime scan soon)

Terms of Service:

- 1) You may not share the crypter with anyone else. You purchase a license for you and only you.
- 2) You may not attempt to manipulate the program in any way. This includes the builder and the stub.
- 3) You may not provide any crypting service using my product, neither paid nor free.
- 4) You may not scan files generated by Codelux Protector anywhere that samples are distributed from.
- 5) I have no responsibility for your actions. Any misuse of my product is to hold you responsible.
- 6) I reserve the right to suspend, modify or revoke your license for a reasonable cause.
- 7) Issues, feedback and support should be conducted through PM or e-mail. This is a thread for sales only.
- 8) All sales are final. You may not request for a refund after the product is delivered to you.
- 9) The output rate will not be guaranteed to be FUD always. If there are detections, I will fix them as soon as possible.
- 10) These terms of service and prices may change without any prior notice.

You can find a list of vouches on my old there, here:

Before purchasing, make sure that you know how to use a crypter or at least you could use some common sense in order to achieve the maximum results. If you still have trouble using the user-friendly interface, contact me through PM or Skype. If you are rude to me, I will ignore you and most likely suspend your license as well. I expect the same kind of friendliness I display myself to anyone.

By purchasing, you are also agreeing automatically to my Terms of Service (see above).

If you have any questions, please send me a PM. Problems are to be reported in PM as well and not on this thread.

Calibur made it. He was an excellent designer. I think he is inactive now.

I am not giving out any vouch copies for the time being. This is not a new product, it's an old one rebooted.

Thank you for your words! I appreciate it a lot.

I have updated the thread with a recent scan link (today to be precise).

I am planning to provide a service with private stubs to anyone who is interested soon. Prices will also be lowered as I plan a partnership with another HF member. PayPal will also be accepted most likely as soon as everything is ready.

List of features for the next update: Bind multiple files and support every extension.

Increase persistence level more.

Private stub service.

Accept PayPal as a payment method.
