I didn't get the purpose of that program, so basically it just checks if a username is available?

Why couldn't i do this at twitterz registration process?

Not meaning to trash sales, i jsut didn't get the point what your program is about.

Cheers, Gee.

The point of the Twitter Turboer is to try to snatch an (OG) username. When a username you want is taken, you can turbo it so when that person with the username changes his username, your account's username will instantly automatically change to that username you wanted.

FRANKIE - September 16, 2015, 7:09 am

Well, while trying to swap my Twitter @, twitter put the @ on 'Username is unavailable'

It might come available again soon, so I want to put the turboer on it.

Except, the turboer doesn't work when the username is on 'unavailable', it instantly says that it succesfully turboed the username :S

For example, lets say you turbo the username JasonDerulo. If JasonDerulo changes his username, your Twitter username will instantly change to JasonDerulo.

A lot of people had success with this turboer! Don't get left out and fail in snatching Twitter usernames!

Turboer allows you to snatch a username when they change their username.

For example, lets say you turbo the username JasonDerulo. If JasonDerulo changes his username, your Twitter username will instantly change to JasonDerulo.

I bought this awhile ago, and loved it. But after the new Twitter update it no longer works to claim names. It just stops working / crashes soon after pressing "start". It might be patched. I've tried multiple ways of this by: creating new account, using VPN, using aged account, etc. Not sales thrashing just hoping it may be fixed soon! <3
