Thread: COC isn't the old COC

Ted™ - September 15, 2015, 2:18 am i have played coc and loved it very much maxed out my Th7 and went to Th8 and it actually suck i have been stuck without doing any upgrades or even playing searching for a good raid takes ages idk whats wrong with the game i wish i could go back to Th7 ?

Yoshi - September 15, 2015, 2:23 am

Lol, I don't really see the difference tbh.

After I got close to maxing my Th9 the game got boring for me too, so I just quit. You can always just quit and try again later see how that works out for you.

Isn't that with every online game. And you can always return in like a month or so. Quitting a game for a month really does help when you than start playing again it feels just like the way it used to be.

If you care about the loot than just log in once every week to upgrade 1 big building. And you'll return the trophies quick enough because after that month you'll want to play again and won't be bored of the game for a while.

I've noticed that most people quit at TH8, the game just becomes slow when you get there.

I kinda agree with you. However, I now use clashofclansforecaster website, it tells you the times where loot is great or terrible. It actually works because I notice when it is Terrible I have to searcho almost 100 times it feels like. When it is great, I find so many good base to raid.

spaljo1 - September 15, 2015, 7:43 am

Im 2 days from comming to th lvl 10 and its still fun for me, and i maxed all lvl 9 th :)

Smooth_Criminal - September 15, 2015, 9:25 am

If you want to full up your storages simply go-to Champions league... Go to champions league and stay in between 3100 to 3200 trophies... You get more than enough gold and elixer from just Townhall sniping.

You're probably in wrong trophy range. I'm th10 and Silver 2 is great for farming

This.

Every time people complain about there not being loot, it's because they're either too high or too low in trophies.

As you're TH8, I suggest you stay around the 1400-1800 range. That's the best place for you. You could even try Silver 1, but loot there isn't always great.

Try the range I told you for a week or two and see how you go.
