The Importance of Secure Reliable DNS Services

Spoiler (Click to View)

"So I have seen a few people offering to create DNS or made new DNS services

Just a heads up that this will give them ability to steal your clients if they are so inclined best way to make it so they cant would be to make your clients have a password for encrypted connection

I know babylon has this feature but I am not sure what other RAT's do.

So just take care in what DNS you use.

I personally would reccomend

A?m^aDa as a trustworthy DNS source

Ive seen him around alot and he looks the most legit in this regard IMO and his dns service <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4995393>

but in the most part its a good idea to buy a cheap domain name and use that to forward your DNS

Just a heads up as I was recently asked if this were possible to do, so I figure more of you wont know about this"

When Free Is No Longer Viable

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

It would seem that every time we find what seems to be a good DNS provider, suddenly they go all screwy on us, this now more than recently is when the call for reliable, secure DNS services be provided. Although many users think simply buying a cheap domain name will do the trick, and granted it might for some minimal users. This is not the case for most main stream Hackers. There is a call for reliable Secure, Bullet proof DNS services.

Look around, it is all around you.

DO NOT USE FreeDNS.Afraid.org!!!

[DuckDNS & Deployment of MHN] ABANDON USE OF DUCKDNS

These are just the most recent of a long list of other similar services, which have either become very compliant with external influences, or installed such technology as Honeypots to capture and submit packages and transmissions.

DNS Servers themselves yes.

I provide a baseline DDoS level for the clients, but guarantee nothing towards your end point IP#. It would impossible to do so without affecting network traffic.

God you are not even joking. Worst part was trying to explain that the services and domain in fact did not go down at all, but the domain was blocked at the ICANN level, and there was literally nothing that can be done.

I hope to hell you can avoid this problem, I did not even get an abuse report or anything.

If you dont know, you probably do not need this.

However, to answer the question, lets assume you have a dynamic IP# (changes every once in a while) This would give you the advantage of your clients or hosts always being able to communicate directly with the chosen IP# you wish quickly and easily.

So instead of constantly having to deal with the IP 284.475.372.543 and tomorrow it changes to 284.475.347.482 and so on. instead you have a host address Myawesomehost.acme.com instead. Which despite the IP#s changing, this will not.

Just as an FYI to everyone.

I recently just completed a massive update, integrated in 10+ new host domains, and refined a few back end security tweaks. In the event there was a minor disruption in services, it was unfortunately required as a services reboot as needed for some of the changes to take effect, however I do not believe there was any disruption this time around, fail over resolution kicked in instantly.

This is not sales trashing, this is my opinion on the product after I purchased.

I paid $30 for a years sub to this DNS service. It's been causing issues with clients I was connected with and now the DNS is completely down and I've had this service for only 6 hours. I'm not saying this DNS service is always like this, but this is all I have experienced so far.

Please fix this as soon as possible.

I am using the service currently and it's working fine me...

Have you tried pinging your DNS to see if it is up?

He gave me the "new domains" that he recently set up I believe. It pings fine now, earlier it had packet loss. Every time I send a command to one of my clients, they latency changes to "N/A" and then the client eventually disconnects.

I've spoke with KFC Watermelon and he informed me that it is 100% a DNS issue after reading the logs from my LL client.

There are update clients which do function with my service yes. However I do not directly provide a Update client as I found it tends to update at the wrong time and to IP#s users might not want (Their true IP#s)

I can always give you my NAMECHEAP referral link and you can go buy a $1 domain and get it banned like everyone else.

Or, you can go with a proven service and pay a little more, your choice.

Hello Armada,

I don't know why the DNS you always issue me usually used to stopped working, The dns does not resolve to my IP anymore and when i update it says "nochg". Please can you fix this or issue me DNS ASAP because when it stops all my clients disappears both the one for backup because both stopped working. Please issue me a stronger ones that will not stop working at some point in time.

And I told you 3 times last night I was at work on a cell phone and I could not do shit until I got home. APPARENTLY this was unacceptable to you and you continued to harass me while I was at work which requires a great deal of concentration.

I was at work and could not deal with this complaint UNTIL I GOT HOME.

People who choose to be impatient with my services, well I always reserve the right to suspend any service I provide for any reason.

Not only to this I get home and after blocking you on Skype to focus on work, I come home to emails and PMs from you.

It is not my fault you have no fucking patience for someone to investigate your issue. Perhaps learn some bloody patience and allow me to resolve the issue when I actually have an opportunity to do so.

Maybe on Saturday I will consider looking in to your issue. This is the penalty for not listening to common sense, I will make you wait longer. Just to make the point CLEAR.

I do not tolerate impatient immature people who expect me to jump on a whim just because they cant figure something out. You paid $30 for a years service. Had you paid me $300 or $3000 I would likely be WAY more actionable to jump on request, but you paid for a basic service and this is what you got.

Simple as that. I take care of my customers, Quality of my service is very important to me. However, I will be no ones bitch for $30 DNS plans. Get real.

I will AGAIN note, this is a sales thread, if you have an issue there are other places you can post to.

If you are the guy from earlier asking for a freaking MANUAL on how to use a web script/form.

Sorry I can't trouble shoot stupidity.
I tried my best and you just do not understand the simple factor you input the base information your gave me and your designated IP#.

The fact you are incapable of understanding this and are asking for a manual tells me you clearly should not be using the services to start.

Hit up the networking section and maybe understand what DNS is used for to begin with.

Your service is live and functional, just as you paid.

Sorry I wont write a Manual on how to use a freaking web script.....

This is NOT a support thread, and secondly I already explained 911 means your putting in the WRONG INFORMATION.

You provided ME the info to input, I can't explain why you are fucking your own information up to input.

That is a you problem, I tested 3x times to ensure it worked, it works, your on a brand new host, hell you are the only entry in those hosts and you can't figure it out. That is a YOU problem, nothing to do with my services. I can't fix stupidity, sorry.

hello if i purchase the DNS of this package <http://prntscr.com/l4f75u> pls how many IPs are u sending me?

and how often will I be getting Fresh Ip / week or / month ?

Fulya Donmez - October 19, 2018, 10:10 am

I want to purchase this dns service but need clarification on this (please include all DNS naming and IP#'s you wish to register) Does the dns lock under my IP? What about if my ip changes?

Waiting for your response

Anyone else having issues with expired domains/non working DNS? As of October 31st there are at least 3 expired domains, which have been in use for this service. The op is currently banned and doesnt further reply to my mails. If you had important things running under this service like me, please leave me a message I can probably help you out.

I investigated the domain name registrar, which has been used for this service and it allows "external" payments so you can pay and maintain the domain for yourself even if you are not the owner. In other words there is a chance to reactivate your expired DNS and rescue "clients" if the op remains dead. The registrar currently doesnt allow coins, so Im stuck with this info and looking for help with a cc payment - hopefully we can help each other.

Its not working because Armada didnt pay for the domains. If you had important things running and dont mind paying yourself with cc or paypal for your given dns domains, pm me. I can link you the registrars external renewal page where you can enter your domains.

Quote:Using this page you can renew any domain(s) in our database even if the domain(s) do not belong to you.

If the op doesnt reply soon I will post the registrar and the renewal link public. Its around 15$ per year for .biz and .me domains, which I believe op used the most.

Update:

I renewed 2 domains for 2 years. Depending on how many A record entries Armada sold from these, some of the dns from you guys should now work again! Contact me if you need urgent help with your dns. I had to pay 73$ because of skrills minimum charge and VAT, if your DNS now works again I would appreciate a thank you or some donation as compensation in return, especially if I saved some businesses.

I currently have a sale going on this week for Black Friday on my Highest DNS package. 2x private domains and full DDNS control.

Unfortunately I cant give a further price break on the lower plans, those barely keep my servers live for everyone. ?

hdhd - November 25, 2018, 2:04 am

I wanna buy the small package and would like to do a contract for it, but your PMs are disabled.
