Thread: Start a Group With Me | Leader Wanted.

Elliot Alderson. - September 21, 2015, 3:05 pm

So I'm looking to start a group, with a bunch of people that are highly motivated to make money, have fun and gain knowledge on the internet.

I'm Looking for someone HQ that also has the same ambitions as me, to do exactly this, someone that is active, and online at least 6/7 hours a day, with high standards, and a good overall knowledge of the forum, and what lies within to start this with me.

The group will have high standards, and will strictly be for motivated people, no slackers.

As I've joined many groups that claim to be "working" or doing projects, when I join, the members just talk BS, in chats, and are all inactive AF.

I hope you can see where I'm coming from with this, I think the forum needs something like this, for workers to work and get what they deserve.

Edit: I've come across a user that I think I can work well with, we are now recruiting members, with skill sets that we will keep confidential.

Just contact me if you want to join, I'll send you a form to fill, and let you know if your fit for the job, but be sure to know, If you get accepted, we need commitment.

The questions are general and based on your knowledge.

Ha.

No, I'm just highly motivated, and I think I meet the requirements of leading a team, along with motivating them, growing knowledge with them, and sharing success.

I work pretty hard for what I have right now. And I'm doing just fine, But you don't get anywhere with being satisfied, Pushing yourself to the limit = Success, and I find that the easiest way to do this, is in a group of people with the same mindset, and I'm sure this logic will be the same for others also.

Hoped this answered your statement.

If you look at the amount of products and shit he has I doubt he's a slacker.

Are you referring to a HF Official group, or Unofficial?

If it went well, It could be easily made

(Sep 21, 2015 03:41 PM)Savage Matt Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Official Though, I'd need to be sure that the users at that time were loyal, active, and All I would want in a group really.
