Thread: [\[Resolved\] MiLkBoNe UID=2606611 Shitty service and not willing to refund.](#)

Hello hackforum members,

I am here to warn you for this user, he claims that he will give one on one support when purchasing his ebook, this user is kind and caring till you've bought the ebook and then he replies once every 24 hours,

we are talking about the ebook Overnight Income, this user stated that a refund will be given i quote "No questions asked", i waited with two other users more then 4 days to get any help, all he said once a 24 hours was,

"how may i help you or" "connectivity issues" "don't work on the weekends", bullshit, whenever people confront him on his shitty service and not replying he quotes old vouches from his thread to skip a page so the replys people made will not directly been seen, when me and two other users asked for a refund he all of a sudden changed his TOS to

"2. Requesting refund earlier than 30 days a 35% fee will be charged.

3. Flaming on thread voids refund warranty."

(he will probably go do this when he reads this) There was at no given moment anything in his TOS that he could change his TOS, so if he wants to play the sneaky little bitch role well he may, i will be gladly to accept this challenge, to be honest i do not care about the $17, i just want people to see and know what happend to me and what could happen to them, it would be nice to get a refund and to sort things out but if he does not want to do this things like this happen, Milkbone, if you read this, i want to be refunded in BTC only, let's sort things out ;)

This link contains multiple screenshots about this case,

Please share your opinions and if you need any more information in case i forgot please let me know, thanks for taking time to read this, ?

An eBook that doesn't give the refund as promised? Wow that's new here.

Hopefully you learnt your lesson about eBooks though

This seems like more a deal dispute though, you should change the thread title

Renamed the thread title, thanks for noticing.

The terms of sale was not "all of the sudden" added lmao. Seriously, what type of argument is that? I provide my customers with 100% service and attention when I am available and plenty of my customers can attest to that.

SORRY I don't "work" weekends.

SORRY I had Skype related issued verified on Skype (<http://heartbeat.skype.com>).

SORRY you don't have the patience of a nickel.

This is a bogus deal dispute based on false premise.

Actually this is a deal dispute based on facts, now PM me if you want to solve this and get it over with, i've waited long enough on 1, your "support" and 2 my refund, let me know what it's going to be so i can either continue this or remove this, this is not the first dispute against you ok exact the same reason, lmk when you going to refund me.

Just FYI no TOS can be changed without notice and automatically make people agree to it, you don't make up a law there is no "my way or the highway" if you make up your shit that means everyone else can too IE your username is green you owe everyone 200USD. You are bind only to the original TOS which did not include 30 day period. Under "flaming" you cannot count paying customers being dissatisfied with your shitty product after you decide to ignore them. So you OWE this man an apology, a FULL god damn refund or a promised support which he PAID for.

Thank you for the information, really good to know, but he will not refund me or give me to support he promised, says enough about him and his shitty service.

Lmao this kid pulled this on some other member and then told everyone he refunded him but when I messaged the guy he said he "refunded" he told me he never did XD.

Legit scam report
