Just fix it.

Just fix it.

Just fix it.

Just fix it.

Just fix it.

JUST FIX IT M8!

420 Blaze It - September 22, 2015, 9:30 pm

How do you hack so good, I bet I can do it

"I hacked Google using inspect element"

At school this happens all the time. Then I actually deface a site and show them what hacking really is.

Mom came in my room asking where the f13 key was. Dad was trolling again.

the wolf of blockchain - September 22, 2015, 9:43 pm

guys I cracked so many passwords with sentry mba

Critique - September 22, 2015, 9:45 pm

"Can you hak mi ex grill frinds facebook?"

I don't know but I've seen this a lot in "Hacking requests" and I find it really stupid.

I've been asked really stupid questions but I can't name one of the top of my head.

I once heard that Apple Products are bad lol.

But they don't understand that a Macbook is infact the rolex computer.

PS: My workstations are based on windows & linux.

Villxin - September 22, 2015, 10:11 pm

A supply teacher in my high school computer science class accused someone of "Hacking the school." because he was typing in CMD on his lap top.

It was pretty funny. For the rest of our time at that school it was an ongoing joke.

Opens the window

Mom: Close that window so the wifi signal doesn't go away

Exige - September 22, 2015, 10:16 pm

A woman came into BestBuy when I used to work there saying that she was gonna buy a wireless monitor, but decided to make her own by cutting the cords coming out the back (Old style box monitor) and she was yelling at me to just fix it. Keep in mind this was just a few years ago, at the time, we had stopped even selling those stupid heavy things in favor of a nice flat screen with HDMI input lol

But yea, cutting the cords does make a device wireless, it just wont work afterwards lol

Some kid on xbox live told me he was gonna hack my account using my ip address. This was when halo 3 50s were hard to get.

Darklurker - September 23, 2015, 12:09 am

I worked as a troubleshooter for several years and you wouldn't believe how many users asked us to install Google on their computers LOL lol, you know that there are 24 function keys?

F1 - F12, then Shift + F1 - F12.

Shift escalates it to the next digit, so F1 is F13, F2 is F14 etc.

B?ue - September 23, 2015, 1:39 am

When I was playing GTA V, every so often i would get a framerate drop lasting about 5-6 seconds.

This dumbass in teamspeak kept on telling me I NEED to do a OS fresh install, Like yeah because if one game, out of my entire library lags, that totally means my operating system is fucked. Even worse they were Comptia A+ certified, Pretty sure Comptia doesn't tell you that OS reinstall is the only solution to every problem.

I turned out that when I press F2 ingame to drop weapon, my recording software was saving the last 90 seconds of gameplay causing a bit of lag.

espot - September 23, 2015, 1:50 am

"I saw it on the Google" is one I hear quite a lot.

Sounds ridiculous when you hear it, a bit like "on the line" (online)

Ygore - September 23, 2015, 1:55 am

I can easily trace you with CMD! And I know the password for administration

Vibe - September 23, 2015, 1:59 am

I was trying to tell someone about bit coins and he asked me
"So should we go get some new pix axes and mine some?"
He was serious.....

Lamee-Ven0m - September 23, 2015, 2:02 am

In our school people was like lets hack his computer and use "CTRL + W" and close his windows, They thought hacking was running up to his machine when he wasnt near by it.

Dennis - September 23, 2015, 2:13 am

I was listening to a convo on teamspeak where one would say he could easily hack the ts server and give himself admin status. The other party said it's not possible as there is software installed that would automatically attack the attacker back.
