Thread: Gaming Community - Advertiser/Game Leader

ScottCameron - September 23, 2015, 3:32 am

Hello!

I setup a gaming community roughly about a year ago, it all go off really well and we primarily supported games like Smite & Minecraft but it's gone down hill as of late. We've been losing members due to activity and other communities being massively active compared to ours.

I've been wanting to get the community into console gaming for a few months now, specifically the PS4. I've been looking of ways to advertise, places to buy ads and so on but it's not an easy thing to do. I have advertised but not getting much success at the moment.

Essentially I'm looking for someone who wants to help advertise, obviously you'll be paid if the price is right or somebody who is willing to join us and be a Game Leader. What a Game Leader does is help keep that specific game in that console active, recruit and so on. At the moment I'm currently only doing Destiny but I'd love to support more in the long run.

My intentions on this community is not to make money, I have no intention whatsoever to make a profit. I'd love it to be self-sustainable but not profitable in a way I take home money.

If you feel like you'd be up for it let me know via PM or reply here. I'd love to hear from you all and see what you have to offer! :)

Pretty sure it's against the rules to do it on a thread?
