We can't send your payment right now. If you keep running into this issue, please contact PayPal.

I received about $73 in a 30 minute timespan, I have nothing in my Resolution Center or chargebacks at this moment. I think it may be about the $73 in the time it was, but I'm trying to send someone paypal for their btc, and it's not working.

What is the status of payment?

Mons - September 25, 2015, 3:51 pm

Try to send it using their mobile app.

Or try to send as service or as invoice.

Just call PayPal and they will work this out. Thats always the solution for me.

Had this aswell, if you receive to many money in xxx minutes you'll get 'watched'. Just call them up.

This is a common problem(I have it all the time), it's because ur dealing with individuals in foreign countries OR paypal is deeming your payment to much of a risk & is blocking it.

Here's how to bypass it:

Have the person ur trying to send money to request money from you via an invoice, paypal will allow you to pay the invoice & they'll get the money.

Also, calling them up wont do anything(trust me) you can call them and they'll have u do a bunch of stuff, then when it does not work they'll tell you to give the system 24 hours to reboot and it'll fix itself.

If you have 24 hours to wait though & all ur paypal info is legit, call them.

Paypal seems to be down for maintenance on their API or something.

Try sending it as an invoice, hope that works.

Paypal was giving us problems earlier and I confirmed it was on their end. It wouldn't even let me attach a bank or cc to my account and gave me this same error.

Most likely just a verification check on your account, give it some time to go away.

Victini - September 27, 2015, 6:11 am

I always bypassed this shit by making the other guy create an invoice. I used to use the mobile app, but i dont know if that still works or not. But the latest one i use is the invoice method :P

Have you tried the invoice method? Try sending it to another user who is completely verified as I know that if the other person isnt verified or their email isnt verified or something, the payments wont be sent...

(Sep 27, 2015 06:32 PM)Game Freak Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You are basically limited for 24 hours.

Happens when suspicious activity happens on your account.

Most of the time it's because of an IP change.

But OP just posted saying it keeps happening to him and its been a few days now :P I'd just recommend calling them up, but if that isnt any help, i'd email coz the ppl who email seem to have much better expertise than the idiots on the phone. The ppl on the phone never provide reliable information, but when u email em, u can expect a reliable and helpful answer...

Mhmm that's odd Paypal works just fine for me.

I'm in Canada.

?Blunt - September 28, 2015, 6:56 pm

Fixed. Called them, they fixed it, sent a payment. Tried it again, didnt work. Called them again now its fixed forever for me.

Leeway - September 28, 2015, 6:58 pm

I just use the App on my phone works like a charm.
