Thread: Whats the best way to stay on top with grades in school?

zPowers - September 26, 2015, 4:53 pm

hey guys, i have a really really bad problem with Procrastination (basically what im doing right now) and im a junior in highschool and my GPA and grades are pretty badd and i was wondering what you guys do/did in highschool to keep your grades on point caus i really want a Scholar ship!!! ?

Balding - September 26, 2015, 4:53 pm

Crush Adderall and snort it. You'll be awake for hours so you can study.

Study hard and take breaks. Find out which way is the best study method for you, which mine was rote learning.

I have the same problem as you. I force myself to go to the library right after school and finish all my shit there. sometimes invite a few friends along and when you're all done just chill and have fun. then go home and do whatever the fuck you want without that voice in the back of your head telling you to do your hw or study something

Duyere - September 26, 2015, 4:55 pm

i realized i was fucked so i didn't do shit
instead i dropped out and got my ged

Prioritize.

Place homework and study sessions on the top of your list.

For assignments, don't try to plan a day where you can finish the whole assignment. Next time you have free time just sit down and even spend like 15-30 minutes on the assignment. Once you get it started, it will be a lot easier to motivate yourself to keep working on it the next day or day after. You just have to get the ball rolling.

10/10 Can vouch for this method.

Sometimes I won't feel like doing my pre-cal homework but after two to three questions in I enter my "zone" and go ham.

Pay attention in class and actually understand what the teacher is saying.

Ask questions out the ass!

I am seriously proud to say that I have NEVER studied for an exam, unless it was physics.

A number one rule; have a good sleeping pattern so you will able to have good sleep, fresh mind in the morning so you can take in allot of information and concentrate allot better.

The best way to stay on top of grade, in my opinion, is time management. Most often, it's not intelligence that separates an "A" student from a "C" student. It's the fact that the "A" student grasp the concepts of time management and is never overwhelmed by their workload.

iamsuperman - September 26, 2015, 7:16 pm

turn off your PC and do homework

Victini - September 26, 2015, 7:24 pm

Stay at school in the library after school finishes for as long as u can... u may be able to work more productively in that kind of an environment. Install k9 on ur computer and block all ur shit for certain times of the day... If u really get tempted and just unblock it using ur password u set, then just boot urself lol :) but to be honest, the best way is to stay at school after it finishes, i found that to work the best.

second thing is fucking listen during class. And do revision every now and then and stay in touch with all the shit u do during that semester. Worst thing is to just forget everything u did about a certain topic and then have to start again. plus srsly listen during class, dont goof off as much (if u do like i used to). When it comes to exams, u'll regret that u didnt listen during class plus half of the questions that u get in exams come from what u did during class for certain subjects (well it did for me so yeah).

We all got the same problems of procrastination lol :P Best of luck man!

Pay attention in class and do your homework. If you do that you should be successful.

Get an ADHD diagnosis and acquire Adderall

Young Dolph - September 26, 2015, 8:08 pm

The best way honestly is to pay a russian hacker to keep hacking gradespeed for u

IMURPREDATOR - September 26, 2015, 8:47 pm

I procrastinate at times but eventually i do my work. What i do is right when i get home from school or after i eat, i force myself to get into the habit of doing my homework. This way you get your work done and the rest of the day is yours. You dont have to complete the whole assignment just keep in mind that you will eventually need to finish it. Today, I am a senior with Straight A's and B's my entire 4 years. and planning to reach further. Listen to teachers, at times i may email my teacher about a specific problem i have and ask why things work the way they do and it helps me out in the long run. Hope this helps.

rote learning is memorizing by repetition. it also helped me . try it out. I study for like 14 hrs per day . when i started off it was only 2 hrs . slowly slowly i was comfortable studying for long .everything takes time . make it a habbit.

lean yung - September 26, 2015, 9:09 pm

Best way to stay on top of your grades is to go to class, study for the test high, take the test high, and get high grades!
