Thread: Problem adding vb theme to C# \(Referencing\)

Velocity™ - September 27, 2015, 6:18 am

So, I have referenced my .dll to my vb theme and am now choosing the DLL on my toolbox.

I get this error:

I know what it means, but how can I fix this?

Other themes don't do this, only a few I've had pull out this error.

Thanks!

Add it from toolbox "right click on the toolbox > Choose Items" , or you can drop the .dll to toolbox

UITheme

In the theme, are the modifiers private? Try changing them to public/setting them explicitly.
Recompile and try again.

If other themes aren't causing this issue, it might be a bug that the developer hasn't discovered. Also make sure you're importing the correct file if there's more than one to choose from. Some components aren't meant to be imported.

Changing access modifiers to public did the trick.

Working Theme link.
