

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: iTunes Gift Card

Xepher The Cat - September 28, 2015, 12:03 pm

Hi, I have a 15 euro iTunes gift card, am I allowed to sell it?

Hire - September 28, 2015, 12:03 pm

Yeah, omni recently allowed gift cards to be sold.

Goodluck :)

Tyler? - September 28, 2015, 12:12 pm

I'm curious though since Apple products aren't allowed and it is an Apple product. I'd wait for official clarification on this one.

Xepher The Cat - September 28, 2015, 12:13 pm

(Sep 28, 2015 12:12 PM)Tyler? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm curious though since Apple products aren't allowed and it is an Apple product. I'd wait for official clarification on this one.

Same here. I want some clarifications before I go on and accidentally break the rules.

Xepher The Cat - September 28, 2015, 12:54 pm

(Sep 28, 2015 12:45 PM)xadamxk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) From my understanding the Apple Products rule was to prevent scamming and SE methods primarily. In my opinion, Apple gift cards should be allowed.

I agree. iTunes gift cards have no relations to any fraudulent activity, as far as I know only the bigger Apple products were used to scam (iPhones, iPads etc.)

illuminati? - September 28, 2015, 1:00 pm

I believe so, but I'm not 100%.

I'd wait for clarification from an admin or staff member first.

Tyler? - September 28, 2015, 4:33 pm

(Sep 28, 2015 12:54 PM)Xepher The Cat Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree. iTunes gift cards have no relations to any fraudulent activity, as far as I know only the bigger Apple products were used to scam (iPhones, iPads etc.)

Gift cards can be fraudulently obtained, which is why they were disallowed in the past. I'm surprised Omni is allowing them considering some of the sellers could have carded them.

420 Blaze It - September 28, 2015, 4:36 pm

That's why when I came back, they were allowed. Looks like Omni finally allowed it.

Crocs - October 1, 2015, 7:16 am

I think Itunes giftcards are allowed to be sold. Not 100% on this issue though.

csgo_player - October 1, 2015, 8:38 am gift cards are allowed in currency exchange afaik