Alright so I was spreading on youtube and I got a slave randomly, I was messing with him for a bit looking at his webcam then I realized something... he has a hackforums.net thread open. I was wondering, can I get in trouble for this? I didn't infect him on-site he downloaded my file from youtube.

Just remove the process from his computer and move on.

I mean you didn't do it intentionally.

Just remove him.

Either do what bald said or tell him that you're an HF member and that he should watch out because he might be infected by others that are not as nice.

I can't, he logged off after he saw I was looking at his webcam, as he was turning off his webcam I noticed the hf thread open. I'll remove it when he logs back on. Thanks for your help.
