

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: My Personal Experience with Droidjack

stateofmind111 - September 29, 2015, 11:30 pm

So I downloaded DroidJack v4.0mod2.zip and set it up on my phone as well as a no-ip host. Now it worked for over 2 months and then droidjack started the token error. I searched online this was a error many people testing droidjack were getting so I wonder if it is a no-ip host ban on it or the creator of droidjack server that is connected to his very own software and it expires due to it connecting back to droidjack server somehow or the person who modified it. So I wonder will the app that droidjack created that is in my phone connect through another android server? I tried reading the source code of the app on my phone but it looked like jibberish. Does anyone know how droidjack, androrat and other droid program server app creation works and if there is a way to communicate with the app created by droidjack in my phone. I even wondered if Kali had some way to connect to my app droidjack software created as it is still communicating to my no ip host. I also would love to know of better hosting sites. I would love to know more as I feel like im looping searching out there for information on this so if anyone has any clarification I will be so grateful ? I have the droid software as this one did work for over 2 months I will share it in my next thread. All of you thank you i have been learning so much, never to hurt anyone but can't explain my new found love for coding and hacking learning. The future?