<http://www.csgobazar.net/> is a tiny site too, you can buy shitloads of cases and get rich by just spamming in cases.

YesHax - October 3, 2015, 1:45 am missing csgorumble from the list, not sure why would you want to advertise the small sites with leaked source..

I include all sites that are even slightly unique.

I removed several that literally didn't change the logo from the leaked site.

Because it was one of the biggest sites out there for awhile. Its down atm, and the owner has stated that it might come back up soon. I just added it in teh case that it does.

Yes, unfortunately.

Although 90% of the time the site works properly, sometimes (afew times a day minimum) the site will not send you your skins back.

Now that in itself wouldnt be a issue if the owner supported the site. However he actively ignores all emails, pms and posts on his thread regarding the lost skins. I will only remove the site from that heading if he resolves this issue or gets someone to help with the site.

Thanks for the share man! I personally like to sniper smaller sites, as that is where I can gamble without having a massive fit when I lose a $3000 jackpot. I am making a slow and steady profit sniping these smaller pots, and I give the skins to my desperate mates.
