Thread: [\[Important\] PAID RAT Issues - Expert Help Needed \[question to paid rat user\]](#)

anonymousskilller - October 3, 2015, 9:44 am

Hello Everybody !

Hope you all are doing good. As i am using darkcomet (using it for about 4 years and couldn't able to find its alternative) and thinking of switching to a good rat as i want to try new upto date product (if there is), so please suggest me a good RAT with following requirements

1. RAT should be stable and strong because i don't think mostly paid RATs like LuminosityLink can handle thousands of victims as i didn't know any user here who has LuminosityLink RAT, skids or new users are buying this RAT who don't have large amount of victims (this is my personal opinion, you may disagree with me or guide me)
2. Tell me only those PAID Rats who don't use license system especially HWID permission system
Reason
it is my personal experience that every paid RAT who is using HWID system gets down once day (due to blocking or they ran away or they are not interested in continuing their service any more)
.Most famous rats got down with time like blackshades, morphous etc. so once they close down their service, your whole life time victims vanished in seconds . so please suggest me only those paid RATS who actually give you full ownership of RAT and you don't need HWID/their permission of using RAT on which you will be relying with thousands of victims. i challenge everybody to tell me the RATS who are continuing their RAT services till now.

You people can contradict with me and guide me with your opinions. Experts and honest replies are warmly welcomed :)

Thanks in advance ? ? ?

#1 Absolutely wrong. The number of machines you can run with the Controller is based on your systems specifications. If you have a crappy computer dont expect to hold 10,000 installs. It wont.

#2 None. Every paid for Remote Admin tool utilizes either Licensing system or HWID. Dont like it, go with a free option or code your own.

1. Seriously i hv compared many RATs ,many Rats get buggy and unstable after 1000+ ,i hv quite a good computer, i found dc quite ggood with repect to others

2. seriously people should think about it that u re giving money and still dependant on coder server, once his server gets down ,u are finished

If you're constantly having 1000+ slaves i'd suggest getting a botnet. I personally feel like rats are more for around 100 slaves.

How are sellers supposed to protect their product then? Or are they just supposed to let one person buy and upload for all others to use for free?

Bingo. Our software gets cracked fast enough by the asshats over at nulled as is.
The coders have a right to their money for their efforts. Again if the HWID or license is so troubling use a free RAT.

QU?CKSILVER - October 3, 2015, 11:30 am

You will NEVER find one paid product without a licensing system, lol. If you were a software developer selling a product, you would protect your stuff as well, wouldn't you???

I understand that a customer is afraid of losing access to the RAT because of the server going down or any other reason but as Armada said, if you don't like how it all works, use a free one.

Spoiler (Click to View) Or wait for someone out there to crack the product you've always wanted and use it FOR EVER.

Yeah, I got a couple of cracked ones from here. I use them whenever I can't afford to buy or to see if they're really worth it xD

Enjoy the backdoor that comes with it.

Some are, some aren't. But I always execute the cracked ones on a virtual environment and deeply analyze them to determine whether it's backdoored or not.

This thread title is very misleading. Lol it said [Important] anonymouskilller - October 4, 2015, 5:19 am i respect everybody opinion ,i agree that but the main issue is there should be solution for this kind of issues like, i know hwid is must a option nowadays but there should be a solution that will be acceptable to both customer and client ..i think there must be a one and we should ask for that
