Thread: Highly Vouched | Sports Betting Tips | Over \$3,000 Profit in Weeks

r3tsquad - October 6, 2015, 11:59 am

Sports I give advice for:

MLB

NBA

Used to do NFL as well but the season has ended

I have been placing bets on baseball and football for about the past 2-3 weeks started with $700 and turned that into over $2500. I will give my personal bet for the event and how much I will be putting down. I will also give tips on any games you personally ask me about if I did not get to them. I will give you the bets and why I chose what I chose so you guys feel more comfortable.

I will also be adding in some live betting tips when I have the time too, here are some live bets I have made

I am such a noob at sports, but r3t answered some of my starting questions to get me familiar with betting and he helped everyone make great profit. His NFL picks are VERY accurate, and I only lost once with one of his picks, which is not bad considering I have made bank with betting on all the other games.

The skype group is pretty lively. Hopefully the NBA season will be just as profitable as NFL!

R3 is the man, the tips come with a good explanation of why, so even if you are like me and have no idea whats going on you can start to understand how it all works and why you should bet! For example the bet above was a fairly "risky" bet so I didn't bet much on it but still a nice little payout (Turns out they wiped the floor with the opposition)

Awesome.

My winnings are much great then my losses as seen by my profit margin. I will be putting out relatively safe bets and risky parlays to be played and you can decide what you want to bet on obviously.

Profit is including the losses so I'm not sure where you are going with that one. I follow sports pretty much all day and have a lot more knowledge I would say then the average sports enthusiast. This allows me to make smarter bets factoring in the favorites and underdogs.

You shouldn't bet on every game and just take his word for it. Like this is advice, and although OP has extensive knowledge, you should do your own research and only bet on games that are worth the risk.

I personally already made my money back from the pats game with my $50 bet.

I bet on all the games he predicted and exactly how he predicted. Looks like I've made a fair amount of profit, will update once all my bets are cleared with the actual amount.

I don't even know the rules of the games, so using my own knowledge wouldn't help at all :D

I was one of the very first buyers and I am really enjoying my experience in this group. I am such a noob at sports, but r3t answered some of my starting questions to get me familiar with betting and he helped everyone make great profit. His NFL picks are VERY accurate, and I only lost once with one of his picks, which is not bad considering I have made bank with betting on all the other games.

The skype group is pretty lively. Hopefully the NBA season will be just as profitable as NFL!

He doesn't have one. He can't claim to be in profit by so much and have no evidence to back it up.

OP - Once you keep a record of P/L, then I will purchase this.

Yes you can't claim to have so much profit, and expect people to believe it and have no evidence to back it up. What's the harm off keep track with a profit and loss spreadsheet?

R3t I want you to explain why you scammed 50 people in the last group ? You left without saying anything to anyone and now you are starting a new group . Interesting development of the events , right ? I would advise to think once or twice before paying this guy about anything .

The group had gone on for over 5 months, I would like you to read both the TOS rule number 6 in this thread and the previous thread made for the previous group (It is the one locked in the Premium Sellers). The rule has clearly stated from the beginning "6. The time frame of this group is not limited to any date (Can end anytime)". Obviously some people that lack reading or comprehension skills have a hard time understanding or accepting this, as to why I put a set time limit on the new group. ?

Or you just want to get free 40$ from another 50 people . There were some guys that joined the previous group 2 weeks before it getting closed . They didn't get a single bet at that time nor any kind of compensation . You didn't even tell to the group that you are leaving . I'm just warning people that want to join the group , it can be closed even in the hour that they have joined it . Let's not talk about you not responding on skype either .

They got 2 weeks worth of bets, once again you are sounding quite illiterate,

You should add me into the new group, not that I ever bet on anything. I just enjoyed talking to everyone lol.

I was afk a few months from the group, and when I login yesterday, I had a surprise, so are you going to let those old members back into the new group or your starting new one with new group?
